No Matter—It Is Still Baloney!

One of the late Al Smith's favorite sayings was, "No matter how thin you slice it, it is still baloney."

He used that when some political opponent was trying to cover up an unpleasant issue with evasive words or tactics.

It applies today as the administration apparently is determined to put before the next Congress a sales tax at the manufacturer's level — which would be passed on to all consumers but which would not invade the "states rights" field of retail sales taxes. It is to be 10 per cent. Since it will be passed on to the retailer by the manufacturer, it will reach the consumer in the form of a mark-up in prices.

No matter how much they sugar-coat it—it still is a tax. No matter how thin you slice the talk about tax reductions—it is still baloney. The sales tax will cost the average person about what he presently pays out in income taxes. There won't be any real, take-home reduction.

President Eisenhower was accused, by his own press and friends, of confusing the issue in his Boston speech last week when he made no mention of tax reduction, but called for public awareness of the need for continuing sacrifices.

"No sacrifice is too great," the President said, "to build a force sufficient to protect our security and with it our form of government."

And he is right beyond any dispute.

Reduction?

Nonetheless, so great was the confusion created by this "sacrifice" speech that the Treasury department was hurried into the breach by late afternoon of the following day to state there positively would be a 10 per cent reduction in the income tax and that the excess property tax would not be retained past January.

Merely for the record, the 10 per cent income tax slash was voted by the last Democratic Congress under Harry Truman, and the vote called for the excess profits tax to end on last June 30.

The Republicans, looking at the budget, asked for and obtained an extension of this latter levy, until 1954. So, the GOP administration will not be reducing taxes—the natural passage of time will do so by permitting action taken some time ago to become effective.

The Republican embarrassment over what now is privately admitted as an error in timing—the issuing of an experimental long-term note issue at 3¼ per cent interest, made it necessary to extend the excess profits tax.

The government gained about $800,000,000 by retaining the tax. This just about made up for the loss of an approximately $800,000,000 which the government itself had to pay out in increased interest because of its long-term note issue.

Restive

The administration is up against the facts of life, and is very restive because it cannot go ahead and tell the people the story—as President Eisenhower did.

There are elections ahead—and there are politicians to elect. And so, the facts are sugar-coated for them to pass on to the people.

But, it's still baloney.

The facts remain—and they call for sacrifice.

"Economics" is defined as a science treating of the production, distribution and consumption of goods and services.

But, economics is not an exact science.

Neither is politics.

We now can see that economics has become politics. The two are, unfortunately and unhappily, Siamese twins in reverse, joined by political pressure.

There isn't going to be any real decrease in taxes for the good and simple, and inescapable, reason that the GOP will find it necessary, as would the Democrats if they were in office, to replace the money lost by the reductions coming in January—voted long ago by the Democrats.

But they can't say so—so we get baloney.

Brunswick Cleaning Up After Heavy Rainstorm

Clearing or sunny weather returned to most of Georgia yesterday after diminishing tailwinds from hurricane Florence whipped across the south and central portion of the state Saturday night and early Sunday bringing record rainfalls to some areas.

Brunswick began cleaning up after hard rains washed out roads, overloaded sewerage systems and flooded the main street and some homes.

The weatherman said Atlanta and north Georgia can expect fair and slightly warmer weather today and Tuesday with mid-80 temperature peaks both days.

RAINFALL 2.02 INCHES

Atlanta had 2.02 inches of rainfall Saturday and early Sunday. A high of 85 and low of 62 are forecast for today and a 64-85 range for tomorrow.

On Governor Talmadge's orders convicts from the Wayne County Prison Farm were scheduled to start opening and deepening drains in the Brunswick area today. The Third Army will furnish heavy equipment to aid the State Highway Department in speeding up repairs to flooded highways.

Some light rains continued in south and central Georgia yesterday in the wake of the hurricane which drifted across the southeast section of the state in the direction of the South Carolina coast.

Alma, almost in the path of the low-pressure area,, reported 4.22 inches of rain yesterday; Valdosta and Savannah had 3.42 each and Brunswick recorded 2.39.

RAINS, HIGH TIDES

Rains, coupled with very high tides, flooded Albany street, Brunswick's main thoroughfare. The tides also washed away some sea walls on St. Simons Island and caused damage to waterfront homes.

Winds were reported as high as 30 miles an hour in gusts in the Brunswick area Saturday night and yesterday. At Camilla, where 1.98 inches of rain was recorded, a few trees were blown over.

Elsewhere over the state there was no report of serious wind damage.

The Atlanta Weather Bureau said most of the high wind was confined to a narrow strip between Atlanta and Columbus. Columbus measured gusts up to 50 miles an hour, LaGrange 65 miles and Atlanta had 40-mile gusts.

Russell Lays Farm Dip To Benson

Sen. Richard Russell last night blamed the drop in farm prices on the "uncertainty" created by Secretary Benson's failure to put forth a sound farm program.

The only thing Benson has said, the Senator reported on the NBC television program "Meet the Press," is that he favored a free market for the farmers.

NEED TO KNOW

Benson has stated that he is opposed to present farm programs but has advanced no substitute, Russell said. He added that farmers must know well in advance what the government plans to do about their crops.

He disagreed with reports that the farm price drop came during the Democratic administration. The drop, he asserted, didn't get critical until after the Republicans took over and they "have done nothing" to halt the downward spiral.

Russell also told the newsmen that at this time he had no intention of being a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President but will come home to Georgia and seek re-election to the Senate next year. Russell was defeated for the presidential nomination in 1952.

FAVORS SPAIN PACT

Russell said he was in favor of the recent executive agreement which will give the United States military bases in Spain and hopes that Spain will eventually become a full-fledged member of the North Atlantic Defense Alliance.

He added however, that he did believe such agreements should be brought before the Senate. In this case, he said, he felt sure the Senate would have agreed on the proposal.

The ranking Democrat on the Senate Armed Forces Committee, Russell also branded the cuts in Air Force funds "wholly inexcusable" and strongly urged the Pentagon to step up the country's pilot training program.

Senators Inspect U.S. Africa Bases

CASABLANCA, Morocco, Sept. 27—(AP)—An eight-man United States Senate committee, headed by Sen. Francis Case (Rep., S. D.) today began an inspection tour of American air fields in this North African protectorate.

The group already has inspected United States bases in Europe. They arrived last night from Spain and plan to spend three days in Morocco.

Fayetteville Crash Kills AF Captain

Constitution State News Service

FAYETTEVILLE, Sept. 27—An Air Force reserve officer, identified as Capt. John C. Hipp III of Bainbridge, was killed today when he went down with his T28 trainer, struggling to overshoot Burell's Store Crossroads community with his crippled and burning plane.

The plane crashed into a chicken brooder house just outside the populated area on State Route 54 two miles north of here, narrowly missing a crowd of aghast onlookers in Delbert Crouch's front yard.

Another reserve airman, Capt. James O. Eastham, Georgia Tech student, jumped from the plane when it was only "several hundred feet above the ground," according to witnesses. His parachute partially opened and he landed in a tree across the road from the crash site and was treated at the Dobbins base dispensary.

The men were on a routine weekend training flight from the Marietta base to Moultrie's Spence Air Force Base. They were members of the 94th Reserve Wing. Both were pilots and instructors.

Fayette County Sheriff Hugh Stinchcomb said that a guard from the county prison near the crash site, Eugene Williams, pulled the dead airman from the blazing plane minutes after the crash. The brooder house was set afire and destroyed by the burning plane.

Sheriff Stinchcomb quoted witnesses at Burrell's Store as saying they could see Capt. Hipp struggling with his burning plane as it passed over the small community.

J. E. Daniel, who lived within half a mile of the crash site, gave an eyewitness account:

"I was digging in the front yard and heard two explosions in the air. I looked up and saw the plane but nothing appeared to be wrong with it. Then I heard another loud report, looked up and saw one man parachuting from a few hundred feet up, and saw the plane crash into my neighbor's, Delbert Crouch's, chicken house."

Won't Force Tighter Ban On Chinese

Non-Critical Trade Up, Stassen Says

By PAUL P. KENNEDY
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—While there has been a big increase in trade between Western countries and Communist China, the Eisenhower administration declared today that it will resist demands that the United States force stricter embargoes by friendly nations.

At the same time, the administration does not plan to depart from its total embargo on commerce between the United States and Red China.

The policy, as outlined in the Foreign Operations Administration's report to Congress on the Mutual Assistance Control Act of 1951, took a tolerant view on trade between free Western European nations and Soviet-dominated Eastern European nations but it pointed to inherent dangers in such trade.

DEPENDENCE RISKY

It warned that dependence by Western nations on trade with the Soviet bloc would be risky if great enough to make a Western country vulnerable to pressures from the bloc that might weaken the Western alliance.

The report, submitted by Harold E. Stassen, director of foreign operations, said the Western countries, while expanding their nonstrategic trade, had tightened shipping controls on the strategic items, banned for shipment to Communist China.

50 PCT. INCREASE

The Stassen report, covering the first six months of 1953, estimated that shipments to China of nonstrategic materials and products would total $375,000,000 this year, compared with $257,000,000 in 1952. This would mean an increase of about 50 per cent.

"The 1953 increase was not due to a relaxation of strategic trade controls," said the report. "The strategic embargo was being tightened in the first half of 1953, not relaxed. The increase was in nonstrategic goods."

Stassen said the reason for this appeared to be a changed attitude on the part of the Chinese Communists who had "dropped their reluctance to deal with the West."

POLICY UNCHANGED

The policy of the United States with regard to China trade is the same since the Korean truce as it was before, the report stated. We will, it stated, continue for the time being to enforce our total embargo on such trade and encourage other free countries to maintain the same controls they

Typhoon Wrecks Jap Pearl Beds; $5 Million Loss

TOKYO, Monday, Sept. 28 (AP)—Last week's typhoon dealt a near knockout blow to Japan's pearl cultivation industry, Asahi reported today, causing an estimated 5½ million dollars damage.

For the next two or three years no cultivated pearl will come out of the famous Mikimoto pearl grounds, the newspaper said.

The pearl grounds are in five inlets facing the Pacific in central Japan. They received the full brunt of the typhoon. Some 26,000 rafts from which pearl oysters are hung were either sunk or washed away.

Come-Home Appeals Will Be Forced Upon PWs, Custodians Hint

Ruling Today In Red Favor Is Expected

By FRANK JORDAN

PANMUNJOM, Monday, Sept. 28 (AP)—The United Nations called a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission today as the Repatriation Commission indicated it would order neutral Indian troops to force anti-Communist prisoners to listen to Red explanations of why they should be repatriated.

There was no immediate announcement of the purpose of the conference although a U.N. spokesman said the Allies wish clarification of the term "combat aircraft" and wished to discuss a charge of violation of the armistice agreement.

AIR BUILDUP

There was a possibility the Allies would use the 3 p.m. meeting to protest the buildup of the Communist air force in North Korea, the Reds' failure to account for 3,421 Allied prisoners listed as missing, or arrangements for the "explanations" to reluctant PWs.

The Neutral Nations' Repatriation Commission, headed by Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thorayya, indicated it would rule in favor of the Communists on two important regulations governing the explanations to prisoners resisting repatriation.

HEAR REASONS

Thorayya said the commission believes prisoners should be interviewed singly or collectively at the discretion of explaining representatives and that PWs must be forced to attend at least one session.

The Allies have argued for an opposite viewpoint. They have asked that prisoners attend the sessions in groups to "prevent Communist terroristic tactics" and that prisoners who do not want the explanations may stay away from them.

MEET TODAY

Thorayya said the commission will meet late today to complete its decision on the rules dispute which already has delayed the explanation period a week.

He said the commission proposes but has not finally decided that explainers of both sides will be given the option of choosing the number of prisoners they wish to interview at one time. He said the commission also had not decided how much force to use on reluctant prisoners.

Thousands of the 22,500 anti-Communist prisoners have sworn to die rather than meet with Communist officers who will attempt to convince them to return to communism.

Court Plans Hearing on DeKalb Jury

By BERT SPENCER

Judge Frank Guess said yesterday the DeKalb Superior Court will hold a public hearing on suggestions made last week of "political manipulation" of the county's grand jury lists.

Meanwhile, leaders of a semi-political DeKalb civic group said additional charges against DeKalb's grand jury system will be made at a meeting Tuesday night.

Guess said he and Judge Clarence Vaughn will confer this week to set a date for a public hearing to air complaints that politics may have played a part in the dropping of names of prominent citizens from the jury lists.

Herschel H. Hutchins, president of the DeKalb Good Government League, Inc., indicated his group would bring complaints of grand jury politics at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the DeKalb courthouse.

The current criticism of the DeKalb grand jury system came to light Thursday when it was learned that five DeKalb leaders had appealed to Guess for an explanation of why their names

Drives Into River —Forgot It Was There

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 27 (AP)—Gilbert Martin, 50, drove his truck off a ferry dock into the Cumberland River today while the ferry was across the river.

He was fished out of the water by a nearby boatman after climbing out the truck window as it sank. He told police later:

"I knew the river was there but I just wasn't paying attention. The first thing I thought about the river, I was in it."

Arrest Made In Concord Pay Holdup

CONCORD, Sept. 27—A suspect was arrested late yesterday afternoon in connection with Saturday's $4,000 payroll holdup at the Concord Canning Co., Pike County Sheriff J. Astor Riggins said.

Riggins said he expected to arrest a second man last night in connection with the armed robbery by two masked men. Pending arrest of the second man, identity of the suspect was withheld.

John H. Baker, secretary-treasurer of the canning company, reported the robbery occurred at 11:45 a.m. Saturday.

Britain, Egypt To Talk

Talmadge and Cook Will Confer On Charges Against Sheriff Sikes

Governor Talmadge last night said he will confer with Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook before taking action in the case of Liberty County Sheriff Paul Sikes, whom a grand jury Wednesday accused of failing to enforce state liquor laws.

En route to a two-day highway meeting in Kentucky, the governor said he had received a certified copy of a Liberty County grand jury's charges that Sikes had "knowingly failed and neglected" to enforce the liquor laws.

Meanwhile, another Liberty County official—the tax commissioner—is under fire from the grand jury.

The jurors, whose presentment provides the basis for ouster proceedings against Sheriff Sikes, also demanded a "re-audit" of the books of Tax Commissioner Griner for the year 1950. The jury, in its presentments, declared that there has been no audit of these records since 1950. It called for an audit of the books for 1951 and 1952, and declared these tax records should be audited annually in the future.

On the jury's special committee to work with Griner on the audit are Foreman F. W. Mingledorff Jr., F. W. Hendry, Grady Wedincamp, J. A. Perry and F. C. Long.

W. Harvey Atkinson, director of the property tax division of the State Revenue Department, said the state has not audited the county tax books since 1950.

The revenue department was planning to make an audit this month, but Revenue Commissioner Charlie Redwine postponed it until January at the request of J. W. Griner who has been in ill health, Atkinson said.

Georgia law (Code Section 58-1049) requires the governor to conduct a hearing if a grand jury charges a sheriff has "knowingly failed or grossly neglected" to enforce the laws of this state relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors. This law also requires the governor to remove the sheriff from office if he finds at the hearing that the jury's charges are true.

"I have not had an opportunity to study the presentments," Talmadge said. "I want to have the attorney general go over the jury's findings with me and examine the laws before announcing my decision."

A hearing probably will be held within the next few days, observers believed.

Martyrs or Cowards? U.S. Analyzes 23 PWs

By MARVIN STONE

SEOUL, Monday, Sept. 28 (INS) — Twenty-three American men sit today in the No Man's Land of Korea, their backs turned to their country, their families, their friends.

Why have these 23 Americans chosen to become renegades?

What in the minds of these men convinces them that in the tyrannical lands of Communism they will find happiness they think they can no longer find in the land of their birth?

Do they consider themselves modern martyrs? Are they simply men with confused and tortured minds—or are some of them afraid to return home to face the consequences of horrible deeds they committed against fellow prisoners?

American officials in Seoul studying the problem said there is no pat explanation.

However, certain facts are known:

Most were captured early in the war and underwent long captivity during which their minds were exposed to insidious indoctrination.

These 23 are younger than most—about 22 on the average—and older men returning in Operation Big Switch explained the younger were the most receptive to Red propaganda.

They come from varying back-

Rhee Assails U.S. Plan On Korean Neutralization

Hits Allies for Charting Fate Without Consulting Seoul

By GREG MacGREGOR
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

SEOUL, Korea, Monday, Sept. 28—President Syngman Rhee of South Korea heatedly assailed today a proposal on the future of Korea that is reported to have been prepared by the United States for introduction at the Korean peace conference.

He also was sharply critical of the Allies for planning a solution of the Korean question without consulting first with the South Korean government. Britain, Canada and France were said to be supporting the U.S. proposal.

Among its provisions is a call for the neutralization and unification of North and South Korea and the withdrawal of all foreign troops, together with mutual safeguards against aggression between the Soviet Union and Communist China on one side and the Republic of Korea on the other.

"We cannot take seriously any proposal for the neutralization of Korea as long as we have powerful aggressor nations which are left unpunished and unconverted from their violent ways," the 78-year-old Korean leader declared.

"Even if all members of the United Nations should guarantee our neutrality, we would not accept that status since so many nations are undecided on whether to stand on the Communist or Democratic side, whereas the whole Soviet bloc is armed to the teeth for aggressive warfare."

"By agreement with the United States, the government of the Republic of Korea has postponed its determination to unify North and South Korea by military means in order to see what may come out of a political conference. We have also entered into a mutual defense treaty with the United States.

"If 90 days after the political conference opens it has failed to achieve the objective of Korean unification, then naturally we shall resume the battle for our national independence and unity."

Per capita consumption of paper in the United States is about 13 times the world average.

'1st in War' Is 46th on Brass List

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Somebody ought to do something about George Washington's promotion.

More than a century and a half after Congress authorized his advance from lieutenant general to general, the promotion appears to be still pending somewhere in the Army organization.

A checkup today of the list of general officers, alive and dead, showed Washington's name 46th down on the list, leading the rank of lieutenant generals but outranked by a general of the armies, several generals of the army and a flock of generals.

General of the Armies John J. Pershing heads the list. Pershing received this special rank after World War I and is the only American ever to hold it. General of the armies and general of the army, both 5-star ranks, did not exist in Washington's day. Full generals wear four stars, while lieutenant generals are entitled to only three.

In many instances the Army acted years after a man's departure from active duty or even from life to give him promotion. Ulysses Grant, William T. Sherman and Philip Sheridan achieved 4-star rank long after the Civil War.

But Army promotion boards never did anything about stepping up the rank of the first commander. Nor has there been an official explanation of why this is the case.

Army historians say a congressional act of 1799, while Washington was holding the office of commander with the rank of lieutenant general, undoubtedly was intended to provide the rank of full general for him.

But, the historians report, no record can be found to show the appointment was made then or since.

U.S.-Spain Pact to Keep Americans at Minimum

MADRID, Spain, Sept. 27 (AP)—Spain will see no great influx of Yankee personnel under the newly signed U.S.-Spanish aid-for-bases pact.

Official American sources here said the two nations, who yesterday allied themselves in a 20-year agreement to develop this country as a powerful anchor in the Western European defense wall, have agreed that Americans brought in to implement the accord will be kept at a minimum.

The agreement became effective yesterday as soon as it was signed by U. S. Ambassador James C. Dunn and Generalissimo Francisco Franco's foreign minister, Alberto Martin Artajo.

American operations at the naval and airbases Spain is permitting the United States to use will be under a special mission to be set up immediately under Ambassador Dunn. But the terms of the agreement call for the use of Spaniards wherever possible in the big new program for developing those bases for joint Spanish-American use and for renovating and expanding this country's outmoded military machine.

American aid totaling 226 million dollars will be supplied Spain under the mutual security program in the current fiscal year ending next June 30.

Tenn. Solon Jailed After Kin's Death

LEBANON, Tenn., Sept. 27 (AP)—State Rep. Gay Thackston was jailed without bond on a murder charge today shortly after his brother-in-law, A. A. Adams Jr., died of bullet wounds.

Thackston, a past president of the Tennessee Junior Chamber of Commerce and a Methodist Church steward, had been free under bond on an assault charge since Thursday.

Adams, an attorney, was shot in the abdomen at the climax of an argument with Thackston as the lawyer's secretary and a client looked on.

Police quoted Thackston as saying the argument concerned "business matters." He did not elaborate on this but explained:

"It was a clash of personalities. It was one of those cases where you go farther than you ever think you would."

Helen Traubel Breaks With the Met In Dispute over Night Club Contract

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera and foremost Wagnerian soprano Helen Traubel came to a parting of the ways today in a dispute over her budding career as a night club singer.

Associated Press Wirephoto.

ART IS EVERYWHERE, SAYS MET SINGER
Traubel Holds Music for "St. Louis Blues" and "Die Walkure"

The breach was disclosed in an exchange of letters released by a spokesman for Miss Traubel, who recently made her night club debut at the Chez Paree, Chicago. The exchange was climaxed by Miss Traubel's refusal to sign a new contract to appear in the opera.

The first letter, dated Sept. 25th, was written by Rudolf Bing, general manager of the Met.

Bing, taking note of Miss Traubel's night club activities, called attention to the fact that she had not returned a contract, offered some time ago, to participate in the opera season starting next month.

He asked assurances that Miss Traubel would not sing in New York night clubs before the season starts nor for one month afterward.

"I could so well understand a feeling that these two activities do not really seem to mix very well," Bing wrote. "Perhaps you would miss for a year or so until you may possibly feel that you want again to change back to the more serious aspects of your art."

In a letter dated today, Miss Traubel replied:

"To assert that art can be found in the Metropolitan Opera House but not in a night club is a rank snobbery that underrates both the taste of the American public and the talents of its composers.

"I love the songs of Gershwin, Handy, Kern, Rodgers, Berlin and other great American composers. I am glad to be able to sing them and to bring to them my training and equipment as a singer. Since I cannot sing them at the Metropolitan Opera House, I am singing them at night clubs, and I am happy to have found that night club audiences are enthusiastically accepting me on my own terms."

Miss Traubel, who was born in St. Louis, succeeded Kirsten Flagstad in 1939-40 as the Met's feminine star in roles created by Richard Wagner. She has also made numerous concert appearances in this country and abroad.

Her departure from the Metropolitan ranks is a second major defection from the company's cast of Wagnerian stars.

The contract of Lauritz Melchior, renowned tenor, was not renewed when Bing took over management of the company three years ago. Melchior is also currently engaged in a night club appearance on the West Coast.

Back in New York briefly following the Chicago engagement in which the ex-Brunnhilde sang such tunes at "St. Louis Blues," Miss Traubel has one more night club appearance at Washington, D. C. starting Oct. 2., and then goes on a 50-concert tour with her more classical repertoire.

Bing declined comment on the Traubel letter beyond saying he had not yet received it.

Disaster Bell To Greet Taxman

MULHOUSE, France, Sept. 27 (AP)—For years the old village bell in nearby Guevennatten tolled only when disaster struck.

But disasters dropped off in recent years and the bell was getting rusty with disuse.

Village elders decided the bell should be used for something. They announced it would be rung to announce the regular monthly visit of the commune's tax collector.

Florida Governor Slightly Better, Hospital Reports

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 27—(INS)—Florida Gov. Dan McCarty showed slight improvement during the night but remained in critical condition today at Tallahassee, suffering from pneumonia complicated by a heart condition.

The 41-year-old governor, who has been taking things easy since a heart attack Feb. 25, entered the hospital Tuesday with a cold.

Pneumonia developed and last night the governor's heart apparently began to show the effects of the respiratory illness.

A "disturbance of the cardiac rhythm" was reported by his doctors last night, bringing members of the Florida chief executive's family to his bedside while a doctor stayed in constant attendance.

Peiping Claims Kim Won Aid On Moscow Trip

TOKYO, Sept. 27—(AP)—North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung left Moscow Friday after completing negotiations with the Soviet government for the rehabilitation and reconstruction of North Korea, Peiping Radio said today.

The broadcast said N. A. Bulganin, minister of defense, and Andrei Gromyko, deputy foreign minister, and other Soviet leaders were present at Moscow airport.

It quoted Kim as saying the Korean delegation notes "with profound satisfaction" the result of the negotiations and that their success is a testimonial that Russia is not only a liberator of the Korean people but also their true friends."

WAR VICTIM

Briton Home After 'Dying' 38 Years Ago

CHESTER, Wales, Sept. 22 (AP)—A British soldier was back home from the first world war today, 38 years after has was reported killed in action.

Fred Walker, a Royal Welsh fusilier, was wounded by a shell burst during the Battle of Loos. He was reported missing and believed killed and his name was entered on a war memorial listing fusiliers who did not return.

Walker recovered from his wounds in a German hospital, but his memory was gone and his papers lost. All he could remember was his name and the image of his mother's face.

He returned to Britain where he drifted for years from job to job. The name Chester stirred something in his mind and he wandered here in search of his identity.

He became ill and was taken to a hospital. A cleaning woman, Mrs. Frances Annie Ankers, talked with him and mentioned she lived at Boughton. That name, too, stirred a memory and he asked Mrs. Ankers to search for his relatives.

She brought Joseph Walker and Mrs. Margaret Walker Dorman to the bedside. He recognized them instantly because they looked like his mother. They recognized him as their brother Fred when he shaved off his beard.

Record Detroit Crowd Hears Billy Graham

DETROIT, Sept. 27 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham, who started his "old time religion" crusade here seven years ago, returned to the motor city today and set a new opening-day attendance record.

More than 11,000 persons jammed a specially-conseructed "tabernacle" at the Michigan State Fair Grounds and another 14,000 crowded park benches or stood beneath an autumn sun outside to hear the fiery young North Carolina minister's "fire and brimstone" sermon.

Members of a special committee formed for Graham's month-long Detroit crusade said the 25,000-plus turnout broke all previous opening-day attendance records.

Farmers Seek Guarantee Of Continued U.S. Help

Ask Assurance on Props, Subsidies; Cattlemen Urge Government Buying

By WILLIAM M. BLAIR
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Sept. 27—American farmers want reassurances that no one is going to curtail the federal farm programs they have won in the last 20 years, that federal price supports and other subsidies and federal credit will be extended if hard times come.

The fear of depression, recession, or other economic blows gnaws in them. In the words of one Mississippi dirt-farmer, "We are in a stream of worryin'."

FEDERAL AID

There are insistent pleas for continued federal help, even with strict rigid controls on production, contrary to the position of the Eisenhower administration. There is a feeling that while control of some programs is desirable, this position might be sacrificed for financial stability.

These points stood out above all else as members of the House agriculture committee wound up an eight-day 1,500-mile bus tour to get "grass roots" sentiment on the future of federal farm aid.

While the tour covered Southern states—Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and Florida—Midwestern representatives reported farmers in their home districts had been telling them the same story with variations.

Other major findings of the committee included:

1. Southern farmers believe the federal government should maintain a fair relationship between farm prices and farm costs. "To assure this, a support price of 90 per cent of parity on basic, cash crops is essential."

2. Farmers told the committee they were willing to adjust production through acreage allotments and marketing quotas to maintain the high price support system on storable commodities.

3. They ask extension and expansion of credit sources with a review of present credit facilities to provide easier loans.

4. They ask increased federal payments for agricultural conservation programs not only for permanent practices, but for recurring practices such as lime and fertilizers. Congress cut this program this year but not as low as the administration wished.

HIT BENSON

In addition, there was a strong expression of lack of confidence in Secretary of Agriculture Benson and a belief that President Eisenhower was doing a good job.

And congressmen found what some observed as a rather "incongruous" situation of cattle producers pleading that the government stay out of the cattle business and yet "do something for us" in the emergency. Most suggested the government buy and can low grades of cattle to reduce numbers and strengthen prices.

Their position was summed up by Clyde Hart, president of the Lucia County Florida Cattlemen's Association, who told Clifford R. Hope, Kansas Republican and chairman of the House committee, "The government should buy up the lower grades and prevent the packers from taking our profit." Others suggested a floor on cattle, but balked at a ceiling.

Cotton, tobacco and peanut growers were satisfied with the federal programs that guarantee them high supports, a long time Southern position. Dairy farmers suggested more efficient marketing orders and retention of more butterfat in fluid milk to halt the pileup of butter under a high, rigid federal price prop.

Ike Attends Services

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended the 11 a.m. services at the National Presbyterian Church today. The pastor, the Rev. Edward L. R. Elson, D.D., preached to a large congregation on "Faith's Answer to Fear."

Italy Party Seeks Tiny, Cheap Island To Test Free-Steak, No-Tax Plank

ROME, Sept. 27 (UP)—Italy's Beefsteak Party, one of the smallest political parties in the nation, appealed today for a small cheap island where it could try out its program of free beefsteaks, no taxes and treadmill highways.

The Beefsteak Party, whose official emblem is a smiling calf, won only 4,305 votes of the 13,598,788 cast in the last general elections and was never able to put its Utopian program into effect.

Party Leader Corrado Tedeschi sent a circular letter to newspapers asking if there happened to be any small islands for sale—"even desert ones, but not too far from continents"—where he could try out his program on a small scale.

"Just small, cheap islands," he specified. "I can't afford anything the size of Formosa."

2 Top Japan Parties Join, Forge Rearmament Plan

By FRED SAITO

TOKYO, Monday, Sept. 28 (AP)—Leaders of Japan's two most powerful political parties closed ranks yesterday and forged a bi-partisan rearmament plan to speed national defense.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida head of the dominant Liberal party called on Mamoru Shigemitsu, leader of the second ranking Progressive party and ironed out long-standing past differences on the touchy arms issue, according to a statement issued to the press.

Yoshida leads 201 Liberals in the 466-man House of Representatives and Shigemitsu controls 76 Pro-Leaders of Japan's two most powgressives—more than enough for a solid majority.

The agreement was doubly significant for it may eventually lead to a coalition of the two parties and stabilize stormy Japanese politics.

U.S. SECURITY AID

It also paved the way for acceptance of mutual security aid from the United States to bolster Japanese defense against Communist aggression.

Yoshida has expressed desire to accept mutual security aid, but lagged in negotiations in the face of heavy left-wing political attacks.

During the past two years, Yoshida has built up the national safety force of 110,000 men and a coastal safety force of a few dozen small frigates and landing vessels.

AGAINST REARMAMENT

However, Yoshida in the past steadily has claimed he was against rearmament—forbidden by Japan's constitution—and that the ground and sea forces were assigned only to police duties for quelling internal disorders.

Under the agreement with Shigemitsu, it was announced the national safety force will be renamed the self-defense force and "defense from direct aggression will be added to its assignments."

U. S. security forces presently guard Japan against external attack until such time as the country is able to handle its own defense requirements.

Amendments to the national safety agency law will be made "quickly" the announcement said, probably at the next session of the Diet (parliament) when it opens in early November.

U.S. To Aid Truman on Archives

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (UP)—Government archivists will help former President Truman sort out for later public use the papers covering his eight eventful years in office.

General Services Administrator Edmund F. Mansure, announcing this today, hailed the arrangement as "a significant contribution to American history."

ATOM BOMBS

Truman's term included such historic events as the dropping of the first atomic bombs, the end of World War II, the start of Marshall Plan aid and of military assistance to Greece and Turkey in stopping Communist aggression, and the Korean War.

Some three million letters, reports and other papers, enough to fill 1,600 cabinet file drawers, make up Truman's records of these and other events. They are now stored in the Federal Courthouse in Kansas City, where Truman is working with them.

The basic task of arranging, classifying and selecting the papers for ultimate deposit with the United States is expected to take 18 months and cost the government about $15,000.

KANSAS CITY

The work will start Monday, when Philip D. Lagerquist of the National Archives professional staff, is to report at Kansas City. Another archivist will be assigned later to work with him.

The government now owns or holds by deposit presidential papers of 17 of Truman's 31 predecessors. Five other substantial collections of papers of other presidents are also in existence, but the papers of nine presidents have been dispersed or destroyed. From Washington's time it has been considered that the presidential papers were the personal property of the president.

Do Duty Or Quit, Bevan Tells Winnie

Censures Leaders For Illnesses

By DREW MIDDLETON
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

MARGATE, England, Sept. 27. Aneurin Bevan, leader of British socialism's left wing, demanded tonight that the ailing Prime Minister Churchill resign "if he is unable to do his duty" and that Britain take the lead in opening negotiations for a settlement with Russia.

The Labor Party also was warned against the "irreparable" step of rearming West Germany which was linked with the danger of a third world war, and the United States pact with Spain, which has been roundly criticized by a number of delegates, also drew hostile attention from Bevan.

The dramatic attack on the prime minister by the sharp-tongued Welshman occurred at a Labor Party rally setting the stage for tomorrow's opening of the party's national conference. It ended the period during which Churchill has been treated considerately by the Socialists.

POLICY ATTACK

But it is evident here that Socialists are not only determined to resolve their own differences but that they are prepared to launch a very heavy attack upon the foreign policy of the Conservative government and on the United States.

Labor's leaders believe they will thus capitalize on the widespread concern in the British working class over the recession of hopes which were aroused last spring by speeches of Churchill and President Eisenhower in which Britons saw promise of a lessening world tension.

This concern appears to be great enough to bridge some of the internal differences of the party over domestic policy. Unity spoken in all accents of working Britain is the watchword at this conference.

Calling for new approaches to the Soviet Union, Bevan argued that the spread of education in Russia has produced a class that is now forcing "liberalization" of the regime there.

"CONSIDERABLE CRISIS"

Simultaneously, Russia is facing a "considerable crisis" in agriculture and these two changes increase the prospects for successful negotiation with the Soviet Union, Bevan added.

"We say to the world and especially to the United States that these changes inside the Soviet Union must not be used to lead to a tougher and more recalcitrant diplomacy," Bevan added.

Peace he declared can only be achieved by agreement and negotiation.

Challenging the Conservatives on illnesses and absences from the country of Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Bevan shouted:

"If you cannot get leaders capable of leading this country at the moment in the counsels of the world, clear out!"

Chicago GI in Siberia, Released German Says

GOETTINGEN, Germany, Sept. 27 (UP)—A German prisoner of war returning from eight years of captivity in Russia said today he met an American Army sergeant from Chicago in a Siberian prison camp for criminals.

Former Wehrmacht Sgt. Karl Heinz Manns, 35, of Essen, Germany, said the American's name was Peter Ververs or Verfers and that he was serving a sentence for espionage.

Manns said he himself was serving a 25-year sentence imposed in 1945 because he was a member of the German 43d Infantry Division which the Russians accused of extreme cruelty.

Sometime in the middle of 1949, Manns said, he met Ververs at Camp 305 at Bratsk in the Irkutsk area of central Siberia. He said Ververs had been in the prison since 1946 or 1947.

Mannus said Ververs was about 30 years old and from Chicago.

In 1946 or 1947, he said, Ververs was driving three American officers in Eastern Berlin when they were arrested by the Russians. The highest ranking American officer was a major, Manns said.

Ververs was separated from the officers and later sentenced for espionage, Manns said.

In Heidelberg, a U.S. Army headquarters spokesman said no one by that name was on the missing list but added that because the incident was alleged to have occurred in 1946 or 1947 a full search of the six-year-old records would be made.

Manns was one of the hundreds of German men, many of them in tears, who crossed the Iron Curtain today on the long road back from Soviet prison camps and a decade of oblivion since their capture in World War Two.

Top Red Trouble-Shooter Grapples With New E. German Slowdowns

BERLIN, Sept. 27 (AP)—Sullen East German workers have thrown a new fright into Communist ranks by a rash of slowdowns in vital Russian zone plants. Evidence piled up today that the Red regime seems confused as to how to combat it.

The ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) party sent its top trouble-shooter yesterday to Halle in an effort to drag the issue into the open and find a solution. The party newspaper said Hermann Matern, Politburo member and head of the Control Commission, had found a "highly disturbing" set of affairs.

RAIL SHOPS

Matern reported back that the big railway repair shops on the outskirts of Halle have been limping along in an obvious slowdown strike for weeks. The production plan fell 10 per cent short of normal in August and so far in September is running at only 50 per cent of capacity, Matern said.

In a meeting of party leaders of the area, Matern demanded "a final handling of the provocateurs" who are "sabotaging" the economy.

By TOM REEDY

Halle, near Leipzig, was particularly riotous in the June 17 uprisings.

Worried government and party leaders indicated the slowdown weapon is being used in more areas. A week ago there was a hint in the Communist press that production in Goerlitz on the Polish border and in the shipyward city of Rostock was far below normal.

ASK DRIVE

The party's Neues Deutschland said this morning that the "fight against provocateurs and enemies" has been too weakly handled in the entire Potsdam area, outside Berlin. Kurt Seibt, first secretary for the district, admitted in an article that "resistance by the workers" is a continuing question. He added that a machine tractor plant in Schulzendorf was plagued by sabotage and that "is not an isolated case."

Deputy Prime Minister Otto Nuschke, returning from a swing through Mecklenburg, complained that workers and party people are too concerned with the problems of daily life.

"In open discussions, the personal wishes play the major role," Nuschke wrote in his newspaper Neue Zeit. "Discussion of the great national questions is an exception."

Now We Have Spuds To Burn

Take the case of the lowly potato if you want to learn something of the enormity of the task of working out a permanent solution to the farm problem.

Last year at about this time we were just coming out of the worst potato shortage in years. Housewives hoarded the few knotty specimens they could find, paying the highest prices in history. Farmers were delighted as five-pound bags sold for 49 cents at the markets. In the early spring of 1952 they brought the farmer as much as $13 a barrel.

Today we have spuds to burn. From Maine to California farmers are complaining that returns will not pay the cost of harvesting. A five-pound bag of potatoes can be bought at the grocery store for 23 cents and producers are lucky to get $1 a barrel. The crop, 381,000,000 bushels, is one of the largest on record.

With controls off and following last year's high prices, farmers turned to potatoes with a vengeance. The resulting production will bring in as much as $200-an-acre loss for producers in the heart of Maine's potato belt. With the government out of the spud-buying business, many farmers will leave them in the ground.

In areas where all business depended upon potatoes, there is genuine depression.

And so the arguments will never end. Should the government have remained in the potato business, controlling acreage and guaranteeing prices, or should the natural market rule? Certainly there will be fewer potato growers next year, and those who were out to make a fast dollar will be eliminated. The inefficient producer will be squeezed out.

There is no doubt that price props and acreage quotas have kept inefficient farm producers in business, perpetuating a problem instead of curing it. However, tariff laws and wage laws have done the same thing for those in industry. Wrong or not, that is the whole theory back of price supports and acreage controls.

The basic question still remains: Should farmers be expected to shift for themselves while government guarantees labor a living wage and industry a profit?

We understand full well what Mr. Benson is trying to do. But understanding and doing are two entirely different matters, as the case of the lowly potato proves so well. The plain truth is the President and his advisers, while agreeing with Secretary Benson, won't support his policies or permit him to present them in the form of legislation. Ever Maine and Vermont might abandon the Republican camp one of these days.

B & O Employes Set Example for Labor

The management of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has received pleasant, if surprising, reinforcements toward getting new business. The help comes from the 19 railway labor unions representing the B & O employes.

The general chairman of those unions has circularized the membership with a reminder that transportation is competitive and a suggestion that each of them help get business for the road.

The message explains that the job security of the clerk, the machinist or the engineer depends on the prosperity of the B & O. It says "we have a fine railroad—let's advertise it."

And the message goes further to urge employes "to do our jobs in the best possible manner to insure that we retain the business we now have, in addition to securing new business."

The B & O Railway unions thus have set a commendable example in employer-employe relationships. It points to a fine morale among employes and an awareness of the fact that the laborer is secure in his job only as the company for which he works is operating in the black.

Georgia Must End Loan Shark Racket

Evidence is at hand which indicates the loan shark racket is not confined to Atlanta but that shady lending practices are rather general all over the state. The people should demand a statewide cleanup and a strengthening of present laws that permit operators to use various subterfuges to evade these regulations or to openly violate them.

Fulton Sen. Everett Millican has indicated that he is studying the entire picture of Georgia laws on the subject. We hope that from his investigations come legislative action that will eliminate the evil. Certainly the Fulton delegation and, we believe, most Georgia legislators would join in wiping out an inexcusable practice.

Insurance Commissioner Zack D. Cravey has thrown his support behind the move to curb evasions of the law. His office should make every effort to crack down on those who are violating insurance regulations.

Down at Dublin on Sept. 16 the Laurens County grand jury indicted a loan firm on eight counts of usury. For this one instance where court action has been taken, there are scores of others in communities all over Georgia where nothing has been done.

Banks are guilty to a certain extent in that they have not paid enough attention to development of their small loan departments. It is easier to lend money to one person to finance these small transactions than it is to undertake the job themselves.

Whatever else it is, the loan shark racket is an evil that the whole state would be better off without. Georgians should demand that the Legislature and the courts end it.

A Pole Warns West Reds' Aims Unchanged

The free nations should ponder well the words of Dr. Marek S. Korowicz, the Polish professor who escaped from Poland's delegation to the United Nations. As an intelligent and scholarly man, he has had ample opportunity to observe, to study and to evaluate Communist maneuvers in his own country and to place them in proper perspective.

The Reds, he says, hope to conquer the free world without open warfare by 1970 or 1980. Their activities, including the repeated "peace offensives," are designed to destroy the West's military and spiritual strength. Soviet grand strategy is based on "the progressive destruction of the cultural, economic and political foundations of the free world." Having accomplished this, a shooting war will not be necessary.

While he added little to what has been said before, Dr. Korowicz' observations are of greater importance since he has had opportunities to view firsthand the ruthless ambitions of the Kremlin. He gives us added reasons not to let down our guard nor to believe for one moment that the Communists' ultimate goal is not world dominion.

Our Conduct Isn't Bad, But It Could Be Better

Hold on there a minute before you give up and head for the river. We Americans may be better than you, or Kinsey, think.

A conference in New York of 115 educators and business and professional men decided that our behavior, as individuals and as a group, is better than they thought.

But the conferees warned that we are still far from perfect. They said, too, that as the world grows smaller more and more of it is looking to America to set the example in ethics and personal behavior.

In a formal statement the conference declared:

> "The elevation to respectable behavior of such institutions as fixing a ticket, the swindlesheet, perjury, the purchase of legislation or judicial office, and unashamed political blackmail, as instruments in the legislative, judicial and administrative process, the bribery of special groups through the sacrifice of community interests and spread of calumny against innocent groups and individuals, have ceased to be matters of individual or limited concern—their dangers are global."

In short, the eyes of the world are upon us. Of all peoples we've done our best to prove that human nature can be changed for the better. If we revert to selfish, brutish types, if we default on democracy and Christianity, then those around the world who have looked up to us with hope can only look down and give up.

Just Exercising Artistic License

While living in a boarding house in his younger days, artist James M. Whistler made a number of sketches on the walls of his room. One day, when the landlord called for his rent, he saw the sketches and flew into a rage.

"You've got your nerve," he stormed, scribbling on these walls!"

"Well, if that's the way you feel about it," replied Whistler, "I won't charge you for them."

'Readjustment' Almost at Peak

WASHINGTON—Economic historians, looking back on the year 1953, will probably call it the beginning of a period of "readjustment." For the word "recession" doesn't accurately describe what has happened already nor what is likely to happen in the coming months.

The change going on at present—indeed, it began months ago—is not general as happens in a "recession" when nearly every industry is affected and when it is possible to measure declines on a broad percentage basis. There are, for example, industries—like textiles—which have already gone through their painful period of readjustment and emerged on the upward side. The chances are the readjustment will affect different industries at different times—not all of them at the same time.

This particular change-over—if it really has a parallel at all—resembles more closely than anything else the readjustment that showed up early in 1921 and took about 18 months to complete. It was the first economic readjustment of major importance following the close of World War One.

It looks now as if 1953, for instance, based on total business activity, will turn out to be the highest year in our history, and the estimates are that the year 1954 will come out as the second best year. This means that 1954 will be better than 1951 or 1952—both of which were high years. At the bottom of the decline toward the end of 1954, it is expected that business activity may touch the 1952 level. The decline in total business activity as between this year and next is expected to be around nine per cent. Measured by the output of industry alone, there will be a smaller dip than any previous downward curve—smaller even than the turndown in 1949.

Perhaps the best illustration of this point is a story told by Benjamin Fairless, president of the U.S. Steel Corporation, in a speech before the Economic Club of Detroit a week ago. He told of a restaurant owner who was complaining that business had fallen off whereupon the customer remarked that he noticed that a dozen or more people were being turned away that very noon hour. To this the restaurant proprietor replied: "Oh, but a year ago I was turning away three times that many."

The readjustment process under way now may take another year to complete. It is quite possible that the recent decline on the stock market is more of a reflection of what has been happening inside business for several months now—and only lately brought into perspective—than an augury of what is going to happen.

The "readjustment" period, as a whole, is a healthy one and it will tend to avoid and prevent a general recession.

Benson's Program Still an Enigma

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson's speech to farmers at the National Plowing Contest in Wisconsin can hardly be said to have come up to its advance billing. Prior to delivering it he had said it would be the "most important" one of his career. From this farmers of the nation were probably led to believe he would come forward with some new program to halt the falling prices of farm commodities and give greater stability to the agricultural industry. As it turned out, Benson had no program to offer because, as he said, the administration is still consulting farmers about their needs.

There was, however, a note of encouragement in his speech. His words seemed to reflect a considerable shift in his philosophy since he took over the Agriculture department amid hints that the new regime would cut back on government aid to farmers.

Shortly after taking office earlier this year he had declared his opposition to rigid price supports at excessively high levels and professed to see a need to permit the price system to operate in a way to adjust production to the community's needs.

These earlier statements had caused his political opponents to charge that his policies would mean catastrophic price declines.

What the secretary said at the National Plowing Contest, therefore, represented a change of tune. While he failed to come forward with any concrete program, leaving that for a future date, he did make the declaration that present agricultural programs "don't go far enough." By this he seemed to promise that the administration would come up with an adequate scheme for farm relief in due course.

All of which has pointed up an estimate of the farm situation made by Senator Russell of Georgia, one of the leading farm experts in Congress. He declared the "confusion, uncertainty and lack of direction" in the Eisenhower farm program have contributed to falling farm prices and have given the Democrats a fat campaign issue for 1954.

Russell reminded that Benson himself has "no definite program" and said that "if he does not bring in one next year that is satisfactory to the farmers," the Democrats will "certainly" recapture the House and might even regain control of the Senate.

As of today, Russell regards the farm situation and the "lack of a GOP program" as the "best issue for the Democrats." But he concedes the situation could change before the next election. Much will depend on what the administration does at the coming session of Congress.

Benson will have to bestir himself and come up with something constructive if he is to hold on to his cabinet position.

Inconsistent Religious Training Said Among Illogicalities of 'Bible Belt'

Atlanta—Although I am far from being a Yankee, I have never ceased to wonder at the illogicalities of the "Bible Belt." Witness a recent letter in Pulse of the Public criticizing the practice of smoking by clergymen. The writer has been unable to discover any out-and-out prohibition in the Bible either of smoking, which in its modern version at least had not yet been invented, or of moderate drinking, which had.

While the Bible is comparatively soft-spoken about the "sins of the flesh," it rings with condemnation of such sins as pride, anger, heresy and the like. Perhaps it is the inconsistency of the religious training given, which emphasizes an extreme puritanical outlook on pleasure to the exclusion of the greater virtues of humility, love, reverence, etc., that causes youngsters to react and leads to excesses in the opposite direction.

Atlanta—Several articles have appeared in The Constitution regarding the deplorable lack of law enforcement in and around Hinesville. As one possible solution I would like to point out that the Georgia Legislature has provided, in Code Section 64-101, that:

"All official duties should be faithfully performed; and whenever, from any cause, a defect of legal justice would ensue from a failure or improper perofrmance, the writ of mandamus may issue to compel a due performance, if there shall be no other specific legal remedy for the legal rights."

LeMay Must Keep His SAC Team 'Up' For the Often-Postponed Big Game

NEW YORK—No football coach in history ever had to do what Gen. Curt LeMay has done the past five years—keep a team in peak form for a game scheduled for the next day which is constantly being postponed. In effect, that is the great problem that confronts LeMay's Strategic Air Command, whose mission is defined in these terms: "We must be prepared at all times to deliver concentrated atomic attack against the vital elements of an enemy's war-making capacity, to strike at his long-range bomber fleet, and to support appropriate area commanders with attacks on suitable targets."

How do you keep men at a pitch which would enable them to take off on an instant's notice and head for, let us say, the remotest target in Russia?

SAC does it in a variety of ways. It starts with certain advantages. It is the greatest band of professional airmen in the world. Every aircraft commander in SAC shows an average of 36 combat missions. SAC crews have lived together, slept together, flown together and thought together for years.

But every time this big game is postponed, the spirits of even the most eager of the beavers are inclined to droop or collect rust. A condition like that cannot be tolerated in SAC. The security of the free world depends more upon the readiness of SAC than on any other tool in the arsenal of democracy.

LeMay, a soft-spoken man from Ohio who can be as tough as an angry bear if a man does not play square with him, has won for himself a brand of loyalty among his men that is hard to put into words. Every man who works for him knows that LeMay, come the big game, will be in the first plane. He has devised a rigorous and constant training program that tests every man in his outfit every day in a way in which he would test himself.

His men work a 16-hour day. Their medical charts are always up to date. Their bags are packed. Their personal affairs are always in order. No SAC bomber is ever incapacitated in a repair shop for any great length of time. Leaves are handled so as not to break the unity of any crew. No important SAC crewman ever takes two weeks at a beach away from a telephone. With SAC, the war is never cold.

Key officers and crewmen in SAC carry sidearms for a very simple reason. If Russia started a shooting war tomorrow, the first targets of her host of saboteurs in this country unquestionably would be the B-36s, B-47s and B-50s which make up the bulk of SAC's ability to reprise with a horrendous Sunday punch.

One sample of how SAC, and its incredible refueling-in-the-air program, has shrunken the world: Swarms of B-36s recently flew on a moment's notice across the Pacific and droned over some of our less certain friends out that way. Flights of B-47s regularly cross the Atlantic in four hours. Squadrons of F-84s, SAC's A-bomb carrying Republic aviation fighter, have flown nonstop from Georgia to North Africa, thanks to refueling at sea.

A group of B-36s, ordered to fly to Dayton, Ohio, nonstop from Japan, and drum over the field there at the same time a group of B-47s flew in from Britain, did so within one minute of the fly-by of the B-47s.

You can sleep better tonight because Coach LeMay has found a way to keep his boys perpetually primed for the big game.

Familiarity Often Dulls Awareness

There is much for thought in this little verse by Ella Wheeler Wilcox: "We flatter those we scarcely know. . . . We please the fleeting guest. . . . We deal full many a thoughtless blow. . . . To those we love the best." Why this is true, I do not know; that it is true, every domestic courtroom will offer sufficient evidence. It seems strange and incredible that many a man who among his neighbors and business associates is most congenial and considerate is, nonetheless, a virtual tyrant within his own household.

Many a man keeps himself serenely poised and thoughtful during the pressing and exacting hours of his professional life, only to release unmercifully his pent-up emotions when he returns to his own kin and kind. Many a youth is commended by aunts and cousins for courtesy and decorum, but once within the walls of his own home he rejects and scoffs at the counsel and love of his parents.

This double standard of human behavior is difficult to comprehend, for it would seem more natural that just the reverse would be true. It is not hard to imagine that a man who is lovingly considerate of his wife and family might on occasion be harsh toward a stranger.

Jesus long ago said, "A prophet is not without honour, save in his own country, and in his own house" (Matthew 13:57). A similar complaint might come from the lips of many a loving though weary mother. Many a mother who is highly praised by a house guest for the delicacy of her cooking and the care she gives to her house, seldom receives a compliment from dad and the boys.

If it is true that familiarity breeds contempt, it is also tragically true that familiarity often breeds indifference. Mark Twain revealed this latent response of a child to the love of a parent: "When I was 16 I considered my father to be the most stupid man in the world, but when I was 18 I marveled that he had learned so much in so short a time."

A recent college graduate told me the one important thing she gained from her college experiences was an appreciation of her home.

"Only after I had left home," she said, "did I realize how much home life had meant to me and how much more it could have meant. Only after I had traveled hundreds of miles from my mother's kitchen did I come to the realization that her whole life had been unselfishly devoted to her family. Only when I began to do for myself the many things which had always been done for me did I fathom the depth of her concern and care."

If social and community living demand that we speak and act with courtesy and tact toward a stranger, ought not family love to require much more, and for more profound and abiding reasons?

It isn't that we don't love those of our flesh and blood. It may be merely that familiarity breeds indifference.

Leo Aikman

Unfair to Those Who Come First

The release was on my desk. I don't know how or why it got there, but before I passed it along to the proper department, I copied the "lede" paragraph. This is what it said: "Start your meetings on time even if there's no one there but the president and the janitor." That's what Mrs. Charles Center, PTA wheel, told the officers and chairmen of the Conley Hills PTA at East Point. I say blessings on Mrs. Center. I hope not only Conley Hills, but every other organization in the land will listen to what she has to say. The question is: Do meetings fail to start at the appointed hour because people are late? Or are people late because meetings don't start on time? Maybe it's hard to tell between cause and effect; but of one thing you can be sure: Starting late is a theft of time from those folks who make it a point to be punctual.

Much Ado About Zeroes

It was the first autumn Saturday afternoon in what is laughingly known as my career that I did not hear the opposition's vocal forces rise up at some time and shriek, "We want a touchdown!" This was not the result of the monsoon weather conditions in Gainesville, Fla., for the natives were just as throaty as ever. But a blanket of conservatism seemed to have settled over all of Florida as Georgia Tech invaded, and at one time I felt sure that I heard a timid group from across the way suggest, "We want a first down!"

After precisely 45 seconds of the first quarter, it struck rather forcefully home that Florida was perfectly willing to settle for a scoreless tie. It really didn't make too much difference if the Gators didn't score, but they made an awful fetish of trying to keep Tech from exercising its normal offensive right.

Bisher

On a train that pulled out of Jacksonville Saturday evening, there was a mild indication that back home there might be a rush to unload Tech stock before the bottom dropped out. If anything, Tech added strength to its already sturdy character with its performance under most adverse and disheartening conditions. The game was a freak in almost every respect. Any time this Tech team gains 222 yards and doesn't score, a freak is involved.

The devotees of the cauliflower ear would have been sentimentally reminded of Bicycle Bob Pastor, who never was a particular collector of knockouts, but who beat a fast retreat to avoid having his own head dislocated.

Leon Hardeman fumbled away the ball three times, and Hardeman is not a fumbler. He never ran harder in his life to gain four and five yards.

Bill Teas badly misplayed several punts, and normally he is as sure handed a fly-catcher as DiMaggio was.

Tech tried 18 times and completed one pass. Bill Sennett, the best receiver, dropped two strikes, and Sam Hensley and Hardeman had their bad times.

—Pitt and Fordham Played Three in a Row

Under normal weather conditions, these errors would have been eliminated. If Tech had scored on its first drive, when Hardeman lost the ball at the goal line, the game would have been over. The Gators would have had to take the initiative and they would have made the mistakes. They did not have the power to score.

The scoreless tie is erroneously regarded as much ado about nothing, a dull, listless, unattractive package for the customer. Pittsburgh and Fordham, when they were powers of the East, once played scoreless games three years in a row. They lathered up the audiences to such a pitch that New York filled the Polo Grounds to see the third one, and when old natives sit back to tell tales of the days when the East was mighty they never pass over that incredible series.

In Gainesville, there was the same sort of excitement that one gets from riding downhill on a runaway truck loaded with explosives. In every punt there was apprehension, for Tech and Florida linemen were all over the kickers. And it truly did evolve into a kicking game between Dave Davis of Tech and Rick Casares and Harry Speers of Florida.

After Glenn Turner and Jakie Shoemaker, the guard, had tried without celebrated results, Bobby Dodd had to throw Davis, who isn't one of the ranking ends, into the fight and keep him there for his toe alone. As it worked out, the tall, statuesque Virginian was not a complete liability at his end work.

—The Process of Growing Up

There is no bitter inclination at Tech to charge this off to one-way football. The Jackets both moved the ball and kept Florida from moving it, two basic requirements for winning games. There would have been more expert play-calling, as, for instance, when Bill Brigman called on Hardeman rather than sneaking the ball in himself on that first critical fumble. His best bet of the day always was Turner, by this time the best fullback in the SEC, and as far as Tech is concerned, the greatest since Nagurski.

The freshman Wade Mitchell was no ball of fire throwing, but the young fellow stands as promising as ever in the picture. The ball he threw was as slippery as a watermelon seed and the wind he threw into treacherous. He never lost his poise, and at times his ball-shuffling was pure magic.

If this had to be, and Tech could weather its depression with so little loss of prestige, then 1953 should not be so drearily anticipated at all. The last time the Jackets played under such trying weather conditions they managed to beat by one point a 1951 Vanderbilt team that was much weaker than Florida of '53. They also favored Vanderbilt with far fewer mistakes, and that became a Tech team of great renown.

The Jackets may have grown up in Gainesville. They learned a lot of new lessons, such as what to do when a hurricane strikes. But on the more practical side they indicated that they will become a better crew weekend after weekend. And even as they stand now, they can face every team on their schedule, excepting Notre Dame, on at least even terms. And maybe by Oct. 24, Notre Dame.

Players on the benches dashed into the fray. It was some time before the police and officials could restore order.

The police actually were busy on all fronts. After the players had been subdued, fights started in the stands and the officers were pulling customers through exits.

Maroons' Upset of Vols Keys Crazy SEC Picture

League's Big Guns Muted Over Weekend As Darkhorses Gallop Into Prominence

By MERCER BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Although the football season is barely under way, fans in the Southeastern Conference already are a mite confused by the topsy-turvy turn of things.

The three big teams everybody tagged as the SEC's powerhouses already have had their records blotted. And now those darkhorses are fast assuming a lighter hue.

Look at the record: Alabama, hailed by the conference coaches as tops, has been beaten by outsider Mississippi Southern and tied by Louisiana State; Georgia Tech, ranked second, has had its 18-game winning string snapped by a scoreless tie with Florida; and Tennessee, the other member of the "Big Three," has suffered a humiliating 26-0 loss to Mississippi State.

Jackie Parker-led Mississippi State is one of the darkhorses now edging into the spotlight. Georgia, conqueror of Villanova and Tulane, and Mississippi, walkaway winner over Chattanooga and Kentucky, are others. LSU, which beat Texas 20-7 and then tied rejuvenated Alabama 7-7, also is drawing serious attention from future foes.

Parker, supported by an inspired line, ripped Tennessee's vaunted defense to shreds and the Maroons handed the Vols their worst defeat in six years.

The Maroons' blond quarterback, playing before hometown fans in Knoxville, scored two touchdowns on short plunges and passed for another. He also kicked two conversions.

In other games, Georgia used fumbles and a field goal to beat Tulane 16-14, Mississippi ran over Kentucky 22-6, Pennsylvania came from behind and whipped Vanderbilt 13-7 and Auburn, in a Friday night game, walloped Stetson 47-0.

Six intersectional games highlight the coming weekend's grid activity. Tennessee tries for a comeback in Knoxville against powerful Duke.

Georgia Tech plays host to always-dangerous Southern Methodist. Tulane goes to Ann Arbor to meet Michigan, a Big Ten terror. Georgia journeys to Dallas for a game with Texas A&M. LSU entertains Boston College in a night game at Baton Rouge, Mississippi State plays host to North Texas State in Starkville.

Three conference games round out the program. Alabama goes after its first victory against Vanderbilt in Nashville. Auburn gets a real test of its sophomore-studded squad against Mississippi's strong Rebels in Auburn. Florida goes against faltering Kentucky in a night game at Lexington.

After the first round of intra-conference action, Mississippi State, Mississippi and Georgia lead the SEC race with 1-0-0 records. Then come Tech, LSU, Alabama and Florida with 0-0-1 marks. Tulane, Tennessee and Kentucky have lost their only SEC outings.

Dodgers Slam Phils To Set Win Record

Furillo Backs Into Bat Title

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27 (AP)—The National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers belted Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies out of a certain third place finish today, 8-2. Roberts was tagged for four runs and 10 hits in seven innings to absorb his 16th loss against 23 wins.

dienst, who collected two hits in five trips in failing to overtake Brooklyn's Carl Furillo for the National League batting championship, scored on Ray Jablonski's infield out.

The Dodgers broke a club record with the win, the 105th of the season. The previous club mark was 104 wins, set in 1942.

Though he did not play, Carl Furillo nailed down the National League batting crown. The Dodger outfielder, sidelined since Sept. 6 with a broken hand, posted a .344 average, edging St. Louis' Red Schoendienst by two points.

Gil Hodges scored a run in the sixth to bring to 100 his runs scored for one season. This made six Dodgers who have scored at least that many runs in one season to tie a record held by the New York Yankees of 1931.

The Dodgers scored two in the first and for all purposes that was the game. Singles by Junior Gilliam and Peewee Reese and a double steal set up one run on Jackie Robinson's fly and another on Hodges' double.

'Ailing' Bob Clemens Strikes for All-SEC

Bulldog Fullback Leads Loop With 203 Yards Rushing

By JESSE OUTLAR

Who's the best fullback in the SEC?

University of Georgia supporters say there's no doubt about it. Bob (Foots) Clemens is the man. Out at Georgia Tech, they tell you Glenn Turner has no peer in the South.

Over the weekend both players made a big splash. Though Tech failed to score, Turner churned through Florida mud for 104 yards. Clemens, a big stickout in Georgia's 16-14 victory over Tulane, bulled for 86 yards on a water-logged field in Athens.

Clemens smashed the Villanova defense for 117 yards in Georgia's opening triumph and now leads the SEC in rushing with a total of 203. Thus, in two games the 200-pounder has rolled up almost half as many yards as he did in '52 when he paced Bulldog ball carriers with 460.

Coach Wallace Butts readily admits that Georgia would not have been on the winning side of the ledger Saturday without Clemens. He has given Bulldog foes something to worry about, other than Zeke Bratkowski's arm.

Clemens' brilliant play is more remarkable when you consider that he has stuck in the lineup despite painful injuries. Villanova didn't notice it, but the big fullback was hampered by a bum back in the opener. He did not practice last week due to a twisted ankle.

Foots was one of several Bulldogs drawing post-game praise from Butts. He thought the guard corps—Sam Mrvos, Don Shea and Bruce Wimberley—did an excellent job of stopping Tulane's terrific backs. And, of course, it was Mrvos' first-quarter field goal of 21 yards which eventually proved the winning margin.

End John Carson and center Derwent Langley turned in iron-man efforts. Carson was in the thick of things for 57 minutes, and Langley for 50.

In fact, Butts employed only 23 men, smallest number in several years.

Bratkowski, as usual, was the man behind the Georgia gun. The Brat gave his famous arm a rest, hurling only six passes, completing three. But his slick ball handling and punting were vital factors.

He punted six times for an amazing 48.8 average. And his three completions for 28 yards hiked his yardage meter to 224 in two games, only 13 below his record-breaking '52 pace. Bratkowski was in the game for 45 minutes, did not miss a play on offense.

Though he was pleased in general with his Bulldogs, Butts quickly forgot the victory and started fretting about the upcoming bout with Texas A&M in Dallas.

He plans to devote most of this week's practice to mending the Bulldogs' defensive fences. Tulane rushed for 160 yards on the soggy field, and Butts has no yen to see what Max McGee, Ronnie Kent and company would do on dry turf.

The Georgia boss agreed that his team got a great break when McGee, victim of a bad snap on fourth down, failed to step into the end zone shortly before the half.

Instead of grounding the ball for a safety, McGee elected to run and Georgia nailed him at the six. The Bulldogs took over, promptly struck for a TD and a 10-7 halftime lead. Had McGee stepped back a few yards, Tulane probably would have been on top, 7-5.

As a result of their victory, the surprising Bulldogs are one of four SEC teams with perfect slates. Ole Miss, Mississippi State and Auburn are the others.

Red Sox Sign Lou Boudreau To New Pact

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox today signed Manager Lou Boudreau to a new two-year contract.

Lou Boudreau

The former Cleveland star shortstop is finishing his second year as manager of the Red Sox.

Last year he finished sixth. This season he raised his extremely youthful team to fourth.

No terms were immediately announced.

Boudreau managed Cleveland from 1942 through 1950. He was released by the Indians at the end of the 1950 season and signed with the Red Sox as a player.

In 1952 he succeeded Steve O'Neill as the Boston manager.

Bucs Rehire Haney

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27—(AP)—Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, tonight announced that Fred Haney will manage the club again in 1954.

"It was not Haney's fault that we finished in the cellar again this year," said Rickey. "I don't know of anyone who could have done a better job than Haney in our rebuilding program."

CONGRATS FOR NATS' VERNON (R) ON AMERICAN LEAGUE BAT TITLE

Cheering New Champ are Jackie Jensen (L), Mel Hoderlein (C), Mickey Grasso (Rear).

Vernon's .337 Edges Rosen for AL Crown

Two Hits in Final Tilt Cinches Second Title for First Sacker

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Mickey Vernon, Washington first baseman, won the American League batting championship today with two singles in four attempts for a .337 average as the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Senators, 9-2.

Vernon withstood the determined challenge of Cleveland's Al Rosen to capture his second batting crown. Rosen had three hits in five tries against Detroit to finish with a .336 mark. The more precise figures were .3371 for Vernon and .3355 for Rosen.

Vernon, who won the batting title in 1946 with a .353 average, grounded out in his first attempt against winner Joe Coleman, but beat out a bunt in the third inning and singled to right in he fifth before lining to Elmo Valo in right field in the seventh.

The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was called after 2½ innings because of darkness with the Yanks leading 2-0.

Al Rosen Misses Tri-Crown by Point

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27—(AP)—Indian third baseman Al Rosen's bid for the American League's triple batting crown fell short by a single point in the batting average department today as the Detroit Tigers downed the Cleveland Indians 7-3, denying Bob Feller his 250th major-league victory.

Rosen won the league's RBI title with 145, adding one today.

He also took the home-run championship for the league with 43, one above Gus Zernial of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Tech Ran 86 Plays To 34 for Gators

Turner Hero of 0-0 Tie As Casares is Shackled

By FURMAN BISHER

Georgians left over in Florida from a watery weekend in Gainesville, awoke Sunday morning to newspaper stories that caused much winking and blinking of eyes. Florida players were complaining in print that they should have been a winner instead of a party to a scoreless tie with Georgia Tech Saturday, and the Georgians might have followed a good old Democratic Party suggestion made by Al Smith who once advised historically that the record be inspected.

First, Florida was never nearer scoring than Tech's 49-yard line. Defensively, the Jackets were slightly superb.

Second, five times they were forced to fight off the Jackets inside their own 20-yard line. They surrendered 222 rushing yards to Tech's backs, probably a school record for a shutout.

Third, the Jackets tied up and bundled Rick Casares, who is Florida's offense, into a neat knot. The big (205) fullback never did get moving, showed a profit of three yards for his day's work. On the other hand, Glenn Turner used the day of Casares' depression to advance his own campaign for all-SEC fullback. The Tech buster was the man who held the Jackets' offense together, a driving, grinding, faking, elusive weapon who gained 104 yards.

Fourth, Tech ran off 86 offensive plays, Florida only 34. The Jackets completely hogged the ball, and it was obvious that Florida was willing to play for a tie, at no time seemed willing to exert itself offensively.

It was just one of those days on which Tech couldn't find the handle to the end zone door, did everything a team can do except pass and score. And it really wasn't a day for passing, anyway.

Coach Bobby Dodd and his board of strategists actually left no room for second-guessing. They tried every manner of crashing the Florida end zone, passing, wide stuff, sneaks, plain bucks and they were making ready for a Pepper Rodgers field goal late in the fourth quarter when freshman Wade Mitchell, doing what any other sensible young quarterback would have done, fumbled trying to go for a touchdown on a first-down pass from the 10-yard line.

These were the major Tech thrusts that failed:

(1) A drive from their own 41 to Florida's half-yard line, where Leon Hardeman fumbled.

(2) From the Florida 30, where Bill Teas fielded a punt, to the Florida 12, where Hardeman fumbled again.

(3) From the Florida 12, where Larry Morris recovered a Florida fumble, to the Florida half-yard line again, and back out to the six where Teas slipped and fell on third down. On this series Tech once had first and goal to go at the two.

This was all in the first quarter.

(4) A drive from the Tech 44 that stalled at the Florida 16.

(5) From the Florida 34, when Sam Hensley covered Doug Dickey's fumble, to the Florida 10, where Mitchell fumbled.

This was a day of some new events in Tech's recently successful life. It was the first time the Jackets had been held scoreless since South Carolina shut them out, 7-0, in the second game of 1950. It was only Dodd's second tie as a head coach, both in this series. It was the first scoreless tie since the Georgia game of '38.

But there were no wounds left. Tech lived handsomely with its offensive and defensive line play. No complaints there. Turner was the backbone of the backfield, and while the quarterbacking was something less than spectacular, it didn't get the Jackets licked, and the mistakes can be worked out. It may be a long time before anybody else comes as close as Florida.

KONSTANTY WANTS OUT TOO AS PHILS SUSPEND WAITKUS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27 (AP)—Troubles seem to be piling up for owner Bob Carpenter of the Philadelphia Phillies. He has suspended Eddie Waitkus for allegedly going AWOL and pitcher Jim Konstanty has asked to be traded.

Carpenter said Waitkus "jumped" the club in New York last Saturday and that the first baseman was suspended as of Sept. 19. The owner said he had told the 33-year-old veteran first baseman his pay stopped as of the 19th and intends to get rid of him as soon as possible.

Konstanty said he went to Manager Steve O'Neil and asked to be traded.

"I felt that in view of my pitching up to six weeks ago that I should have been used more during our drive for third place. I went to Steve about it and he gave me two or three answers. I told him that I thought I should have worked more, that my arm was okay. He told me that even if a fellow had a rubber arm he wouldn't work him too often and that he felt he should give others a chance. With a club fighting for third place and extra money that seems like a strange answer."

Cubs Drop Cards Into Tie for Third

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs scored two runs in the eighth inning to edge past the St. Louis Cardinals in a 3-2 thriller before 13,378 here today. It was the final game of the season for both teams. The loss dropped the Cardinals into a thrid-place tie with Philadelphia, each team finishing the season with a record of 83 victories and 71 losses.

Dallas Boosts Dixie Margin With 2-1 Win

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 27—(AP)—Dallas got the best of a mound duel today to down Nashville 2-1 and stretch its lead in the Dixie baseball series to 3-1.

Both Tony West of Nashville and Howie Anderson of Dallas pitched shutout ball for five innings before Dallas broke the ice for two runs in the sixth.

Frank Tornay led off in that inning with a single and scored as Buzz Clarkson bounced a long one off the top of the left-field fence for a double. Clarkson then scored the decisive run on Wilcie Moore's single.

In the seventh, Nashville's Bob Boring singled but was forced by Rube Novotney. Tony West singled to put Novotney on second. Then Jack Harshman, Saturday night's mound victor, went in as pinch hitter and singled Novotney home for the Vols' only tally.

Attendance of 4,119 brought the total for the first four games to 23,972—of which 16,919 saw the first two games in Dallas. This made the players' share in the series gate $21,499. They do not share in the last three games of the best-of-seven series.

Four Prep Games Set for Tonight

Eight prep football teams that preferred to wait until dry weather, will play tonight having been postponed from their regular scheduled date last Friday.

The list includes Chamblee at Southwest DeKalb, Fairburn at Avondale, Lawrenceville at Clarkston and Buford at Tucker.

Chamblee and Southwest DeKalb were planning to make it Saturday night but rain forced another postponement.

CONSTITUTION PREP STARS OF THE WEEK

Griffin's Stewart, Northside Top Honor List

By JIMMY MANN

A rugged band of Northside High Schoolers, who are playing Class AA football for the second year, won the Constitution's bid for Prep Team of the Week hands down.

Coach Wayman Creel's chargers completely ignored the prep releases and past history revealing the Brown High School line as peerless. They reeled off 225 yards rushing and scored both their touchdowns on the ground. They upset Brown 12-0.

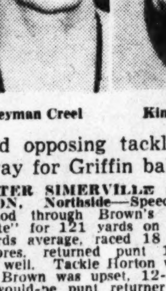

Watch for The Constitution's original "Roberts Ratings," a ranking of the top ten high school teams in each classification, compiled by Charlie Roberts. The ratings will be a regular Wednesday feature, starting next Wednesday.

Tackle Ronald Higginbothem, guard Joe Cronk and center Bobby Black took care of the Brown offense.

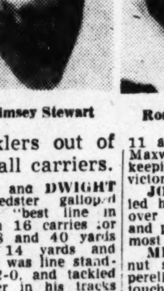

Lester Simerville, Touchdown Club Back of the Week, didn't find the Brown line so tough. He lugged the ball 16 times and recorded 121 yards. Twice Simmerville crossed the double stripes.

Kimsey Stewart of Griffin got the bid as Coach of the Week. His Griffin High team shelved its double wing attack for the T and it paid off in the form of a 19-0 win over favored Cedartown.

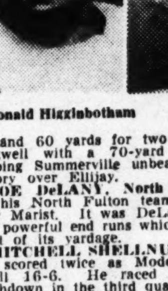

Stewart made a blocking back out of Billy Peeples who has been a bull on offense all year. That move turned out to be what the doctor ordered as Peeples time and again opened holes and moved opposing tacklers out of the way for Griffin ball carriers.

Kimsey Stewart

Ronald Higginbotham

Rannie Smith

LESTER SIMERVILLE and DWIGHT HORTON, Northside—Speedster galloped roughshod through Brown's "best line in the state" for 121 yards on 16 carries for 7.6 yards average, raced 18 and 40 yards for scores, returned punt 14 yards and tackled well. Tackle Horton was line standout as Brown was upset, 12-0, and tackled every would-be punt returner in his tracks after the catch.

RANNIE SMITH and MO CARTER, West Point—Smith was the running star in West Point's 27-0 victory over Jackson. Carter, hard fighting lineman, handled most of the tackling and recovered two important fumbles.

JOHNNY PRINCE, Newton — Prince romped over for two touchdowns as his Newton team handed Winder its third straight loss of the year, 20-0.

BILLY BOB REDFORD and ED CRAWFORD, Decatur—Redford ran for one TD of great play, picked up 48 yards on 11 carries in mud, caught 27 and three-yard passes, was outstanding defensively in 21-0 victory over Rome. Crawford, 185-pound center, was top standout in line that held Hilltoppers to 59 yards, snapped muddy ball unerringly to punter and was best blocker on field.

BOBBY DORSEY, Commerce—Dorsey led his team to a 14-7 comeback victory over Jefferson. Trailing 7-0 at halftime, Dorsey sparked two drives that aided his team in winning 14-7. He scored the first TD from the two-yard line in the third period.

GILBERT PHILLIPS, Milton—Phillips leaped to pay dirt in the late minutes of the final quarter to give Milton a 7-0 victory over Conyers and run the Milton winning streak to 18 in a row.

AGNEW PEACOCK and JOHN SIMPSON, Athens—Peacock and Simpson scored two touchdowns each to lead the way as Athens walloped Elberton High 46-0.

JOHNNY PEACE, Summerville—Dashed 11 and 60 yards for two TDs, hit Paisey Maxwell with a 70-yard scoring pass in keeping Summerville unbeaten with a 19-7 victory over Ellijay.

JOE DeLANY, North Fulton—DeLany led his North Fulton team to a 25-6 win over Marist. It was DeLany's line plunges and powerful end runs which netted his team most of its yardage.

MITCHELL SHELLNUT, Model—Shellnut scored twice as Model outlasted Pepperell 16-6. He raced 38 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter and went 55 for another in the fourth.

JIMMY REID and DON SOUTH, Marietta—Pair of hard-running backs supplied the power Marietta needed to whip Dalton 27-12 Friday. Reid spun 47 yards for a touchdown and South plunged for another. South, the big fullback, was valuable in gaining the "must" yardage all night.

JOHNNY JARVIS and VERNON MILLER, Forest Park—Both Forest Park backs scored twice to lead their team to a decisive 38-0 victory over North Clayton.

GAFFNEY BLALOCK and FRANK KENDRICK, Jonesboro — Blalock's long runs and Kendrick's pair of touchdown plunges sparked the Jonesboro eleven over Hapeville 19-0.

BROWN and JOE LOGAN, Campbell (Smyrna)—Campbell's twin-brother act was too much for Stone Mountain. The Logan boys had too much speed and Campbell won 46-0.

WARD LAWSON, College Park—The 200-pound fullback paced the Parkers to a 20-0 victory over Druid Hills. Lawson scored one touchdown and picked up most of his team's yardage.

NORMAN WILLIAMS, Rossville—Williams, playing his first game at quarterback, was perfection as he led Rossville to a 12-0 victory over Russell. Williams scored once and led the way during the second drive.

LARRY RUDIN, Fulton—The fleet back picked up 82 yards in 12 tries to pace his team to a 25-0 win over West Fulton. Rudin, one of the fastest backs in Georgia prep circles, scored twice.

JERRY WILLCOXAN and JERRY DEMPSEY, Roswell—Willcoxan scored one touchdown and passed for two more to end Dempsey. The pair led Rossville to a thrilling 20-12 verdict over Cassville.

FRANK DENSON, Smith—It was a recovered fumble in the final minutes of play by Denson that almost sent the Smith High team on to whip the highly touted Grady eleven. Denson fell on the Grady 37 and his mates drove to within four yards of the goal line.

JOE TENNICK, South Habersham—Tennick caught passes all over the field as his Habersham team walloped Greensboro 19-6. Two of his catches were for touchdowns.

LEWIS STUDDARD, Monroe—Studdard turned in the longest run of the game with Morgan, a 20-yarder in the first quarter to pace his team to a Region 4-A victory, 6-0.

JACKIE WALKER and LUTHER WHEELUS, Warner Robins—Walker and Wheelus paced a third-quarter attack that gave their team a 13-7 victory over Pearson.

CICERO LUCAS, Washington—Lucas, the-can-do-anything boy in the Washington backfield, scored three times as his team rolled over the Richmond B team 28-0.

SAMMY ALLEN and LAMAR CLEGHORN, Griffin—A couple of rugged Griffin linemen who stymied the Cedartown offense and assisted their Griffin Bulldogs in gaining their 19-0 victory.

JOE GRANT and BENNY NASH, North Habersham—Grant handled the ground gaining for North Habersham while little Nash handled the fumble recovering portion of the contest. He ground the ball seven times during the contest.

SAM VICKERS and JIMMY CRENSHAW, Lanier—Vickers completed five of seven passes and Crenshaw picked up 90 yards in seven tries at the line as the Poets humbled Columbus 18-0.

MARSHALL DODDS, Columbus—Even in defeat Dodds proved to be a capable runner. He paced his Columbus team's offense in their loss to Lanier.

BOBBY SMITH, Gainesville — Smith scored two touchdowns and set up a third as he led the Red Elephants to a 21-0 victory over Newnan.

GUY ARNALL, Newnan—Arnall's passing was hampered by wet weather, but still

Baltimore Deal Off; Coast Hopes Soaring

A. L. Owners Deny Veeck's Proposal to Shift Browns

Condensed From Wire Reports

Bill Veeck's proposed shift of the St. Louis Browns to Baltimore was blocked by American League owners Sunday in a closed session in New York.

Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, led a successful fight against the transfer, which was denied by a 4-4 vote. Six ballots were needed to okay the deal.

Before taking their action, the owners asked Baltimore representatives for a 30-day extension for further consideration of the transfer.

But Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro requested an immediate decision and the negative answer resulted.

Veeck, twice denied the right to move his club, had this to say:

"I'm amazed, shocked and unhappy with this whole lousy business. I could request another meeting, but what's the use. I'm fed up."

The decision was viewed as a triumph for Webb, chief advocate for major league ball on the West Coast.

A Los Angeles agent made a firm offer of $2,500,000 for the franchise and said $6,000,000 could be raised in 10 days.

However, A. L. President Will Harridge said the club will remain in St. Louis unless another meeting is called before Dec. 1. Veeck is expected to sell his interest to a St. Louis group, if the club remains there.

Milwaukee, which set an all-time National League attendance record of 1,826,397, outdrew the champion New York Yankees of the American League by a comfortable margin. The Yanks played before 1,538,007.

Due to the Milwaukee bonanza, the National League showed an increase of more than a million. But the American League had a sharp drop of 1,317,467.

Over-all, the majors had a decline of a quarter million under last season's total, a decrease for the fifth year in a row.

Notre Dame One of Few 'Name' Teams To Shine

Michigan State, Rated Second Also Sparkles in Season's Bow

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Notre Dame's defeat of Oklahoma and convincing triumphs by a few other members of football's elite in the first full-action weekend proved some teams already have found the key to success in the one-platoon game. But a combination of adverse weather and the new substitution rule plagued other major grid powers.

Notre Dame, ranked first in the Associated Press' pre-season poll, took its first step toward living up to that billing by using second-half power to score a 28-21 victory over Oklahoma, rated No. 6, in the spotlight game. Michigan State downed Iowa 21-7, Ohio State ran over Indiana 36-12, UCLA rallied to take Kansas 19-7 and Southern California topped Minnesota 17-7 among the other highly-touted units that met with success. Michigan, absent from the pre-season top ten, objected by walloping Washington 50-0.

Elsewhere the "big" teams ran into trouble. Georgia Tech, rated No. 3, was held to a surprise scoreless tie by Florida. Alabama, No. 6, the victim of Mississippi Southern's 25-10 uprising the week before, could do no better than a 7-7 tie with Louisiana State.

Tennessee fell before Mississippi State 26-0, West Virginia stunned Pitt for the second straight year 17-7, Missouri upset veteran Purdue 14-7 and William and Mary tied Navy 6-6. And if that wasn't enough Amherst smote Brown 7-6, Wichita upended Tulsa 19-10 and Virginia Tech defeated Virginia 20-6.

Notre Dame overcame the blazing Oklahoma sun and a hard-charging Sooner line for its hard-earned victory. In near 100-degree heat fighting Irish twice came back for tieing touchdowns in the first half and broke away in the third period. Quarterback Ralph Guglielmi and Capt. Don Penza, an end, sparked the triumph in an opening game marked by fumbles and moments of spotty play.

Michigan State's No. 2-ranked Spartans relied on a combination of superior manpower and finesse to ring up their 25th consecutive victory at the expense of a determined band of Iowa Hawkeyes in their Big Ten Conference opener.

Seventh - ranked Ohio State showed its well-balanced attack against Indiana as the Buckeyes ran for 192 yards and passed for an additional 139. Quarterback Johnny Borton, completing eight of 13 tosses for 122 yards, found end Tom Hague and halfback Bobby Watkins for touchdowns.

UCLA, No. 4, and Southern California, No. 8, won as expected in the Far West by making their own breaks. The Uclans' versatile tailback, Paul Cameron, scored twice against the Kansans after the Jayhawkers drove to an early TD.

USC's Trojans capitalized on Minnesota miscues and their own manpower advantage before 66,698 in Los Angeles. The Trojans, hounding all-America Paul Giel, fell on a fumble and blocked a quick kick in scoring territory.

In the national television contest Holy Cross defeated Dartmouth 28-6.

Penn, opening a murderous schedule, turned Vanderbilt's aerial weapon against the Commodores for a 13-7 victory.

Mississippi Southern, the outfit that knocked off Alabama last week, rolled over Parris Island Marines 40-0.

Robbins Gets SEPGA Title

NEYLAND SAYS 'HE'S GREAT'

Parker Homecoming Reaps Vols' Praises

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 27 (AP)—Gen. Bob Neyland and Coach Harvey Robinson said about all there was to say after Mississippi State humbled their Tennessee Vols yesterday by a crushing 26-0.

"He's great, simply great," said the general, Tennessee athletic director who retired as coach last winter because of illness.

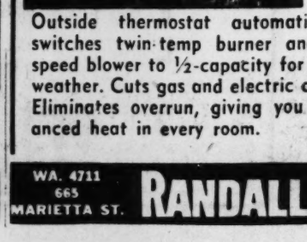

"He's the best T-quarterback in the game today," said Robinson, who succeeded Neyland as head coach.

They were referring, of course, to State's sensational Jackie Parker—the Knoxville lad whose first football appearance in Knoxville since high school days was something the old hometown will long remember. It was Parker's quarterbacking, passing and running which was the most outstanding thing in the Maroons' victory.

"They were just too good for you and they beat the best our team could offer," Neyland told his coaching staff. It was the worst defeat since Mississippi beat the Volunteers, 43-13, in 1947.

"We knew we hadn't had time to teach last year's defensive players the offensive," Robinson added. "Murray (Warmath) had his team ready. They played a great game, and I congratulate his team on a fine victory."

Warmath, the winning coach, was a Vol teammate and assistant coach with Robinson at Tennessee. In the dressing room, Warmath whooped it up.

Murray Warmath Bob Neyland

"Boys," he yelled, "you've made me the happiest coach in the United States. Here, I'll write it on the blackboard." And he did, in just those words.

"I told you we could do it, didn't I?" Parker asked him. "Boy, we did it." Then, he turned to a reporter, handed him a football and said, "Give this to mama."

Mrs. Carroll Parker was waiting just outside the Maroon dressing room. Beaming, she took it.

THE NEW LOU

LSU Regains Status As Dixie Grid Giant

By EDWIN POPE

Has LSU grown back into Southeastern Conference football gianthood after 18 years as an always rugged but often ragged contestant?

Off the promise the Bengals flashed in pounding Texas, 20-6, and all but slaughtering Alabama before finally settling for an amazing 7-7 tie Saturday night, the answer is yes.

LSU is big. The line averages 214 pounds, backfield 190. LSU is well-conditioned. But Gus Tinsley's teams always have been both.

The new reasons for establishing these Tigers as threats to bring the Ole War Skule its first title since 1935 are (1) a raft of the best young backs in the conference, and (2) a finesse missing in the old long-on-power-short-on-polish Baton Rougers.

The Tigers' lack of goal-line punch—three stymies in three times within Alabama's 15—was costly in Mobile. That defect is not liable to be chronic with runners like seniors George Brancato, Jerry Marchand and Charley Oakley, junior Russ Gautreaux, sophomore Levi Johns and freshmen Lou Deutschmann and Tommy Davis.

Brancato averaged 8.8 yards against a good Bama line. Deutschmann was mangling Tide tacklers when he fumbled, killing a drive, and played little thereafter. But the 225-pound kid runs the 100-yard dash in 10.3 seconds, could be great.

Quarterback Al Doggett has played only two games, now handles himself veteran style under the tutelage of old pro Cecil Isbell, who took over the backs this season. And Doggett, while only an average passer, is getting above-the-average receiving from Brancato, Oakley and ends Joe Tuminello and Sammy Murphy.

The dirty-workers—and it may be the best line hereabouts—are tackles Al Robichaux (220) and Sid Fournet (225), guards George Oliver (215) and Paul Miller (215) and center Gary Dildy (210). Alabama threw the best of its rushing game against that wall and came out with only 124 yards.

The Tigers now tangle with B.C., Kentucky, Georgia, Florida, Ole Miss, Tennessee, Mississippi State, Arkansas and Tulane. That sort of schedule has choked off many a past title hope. But LSU has the horses to give it a stiff ride this time.

And Alabama indicates no progress toward its usual late-season strength.

Tackle Ed Culpepper, pre-season all-SEC choice, has quit. Fullback Tommy Lewis goes for his Army physical exam Monday, could be called within a month.

Corky Tharp and Bobby Luna, figured as one of the league's better halfback tandems, have not impressed. Soph quarterback Bart Starr saved Bama from rout over the weekend but, quite naturally, is far from the signal-caller and passer that Clell Hobson was as a senior yast year.

In 1952, Alabama finished fourth in the SEC, LSU ninth. Way things are going, the order could be reversed—with LSU a possibility to go all the way.

Butts Talks To TD Club

Georgia coach Wallace Butts and Southeastern Conference officials' secretary George Gardner will speak on two football fronts here today.

Butts will comment on the Bulldogs' 16-14 victory over Tulane and their upcoming game with Texas A&M, before the Quarterback Club at the Georgian Terrace Hotel. Festivities start at 6 p.m.

Gardner will explain new rules to the Touchdown Club at 12:15 p.m. at the Dinkler-Plaza Hotel. Touchdown Clubbers also will honor Northside's Lester Simerville and North Habersham's Benny Nash as prep back and lineman of the week.

Just as Easy To Grow Hair as To Lose It

G. M. VOSS
directs largest organization of hair experts in Georgia

BAD HABITS of hair-care cause most baldness today.

Not suddenly, in most cases, but gradually, as in your case. Think of the "lick-and-a-promise" way you've taken care of your hair . . . a "lick" with the comb and a promise to do better.

Think how many times you've let it go dirty for days, or weeks. Think of all the concoctions of grease or alcohol you've "dressed it" with.

Those bad habits have left plenty of scars on your scalp to guide the Voss hair expert.

Treat and Teach

To make your hair grow healthily again, the Voss expert has to accomplish two things:

1. Treat and correct the damage caused by long-practiced bad habits;
2. Help you form good habits of hair-care.

His methods work! And they make it just as easy for you to grow hair as to lose it.

Visit the Voss Hair Experts office today. Let the director examine your scalp free. And you examine his evidence that Voss has helped thousands of Georgians with problems like yours.

If you've ever wondered what is meant by a split "T" formation or a fake hand-off, then the Ladies' Football Dictionary is for you. Appearing with Mehre will be Journal sports writer Eddie Barker.

Two Local Shows In TV Debut Today

By PAUL JONES

Two new fall shows originating in the studios of WSB-Television will make their debut today.

Designed to attract the attention of feminine viewers, the two shows will incorporate the best ingredients of daytime programming with WSB-TV personalities Don Elliot, Bob Van Camp and Ruth Kent presiding.

Elliot will be starred in a daily series to be known as Today In Georgia, starting at 9 a.m. He will emulate, on a Georgia basis, the popular NBC-TV Today program.

Don's show will feature news, weather reports, interviews with important government, entertainment and civic personalities. He will feature household hints, a billboard of coming attractions on WSB-TV and a daily "kiddies corner," a segment aimed at the small fry in the audience.

Van Camp, who starred on Strictly For the Girls, Tea At Two and Apartment 2 will become owner and manager of WSB-TV's new Wayside Inn, which will be viewed each day at 2:30 p.m. Ruth Kent, erstwhile cooking expert on the WSB-TV Come Into the Kitchen, will be co-starred with Bob as hostess and chief cook and housekeeper.

A departmentalized program, making possible the sale of a variety of commercial products, Wayside Inn will include studio sets depicting the lobby and registration desk, the kitchen and ballroom and guest room of a typical "wayside inn."

The entrance and grounds around the inn will be shown through rear screen projection. Each day a woman's club will be invited to hold meetings in the Inn's ballroom.

In addition to the daily club meetings Wayside Inn will feature interviews with visiting celebrities. A how-to-do-it department will be incorporated with Miss Kent giving tips on painting furniture, making draperies and on allied arts.

'C&S Hour of Stars' To Debut on WGST

A bright, new musical show comes to Atlanta from 4:40 p.m. to 5:30 today.

Known as the "C&S Hour of Stars," the hour-long show will feature Peggy Lee, Ginger Rogers, Tony Martin and Dick Powell and their favorite tunes of the moment. It will be presented Monday through Friday on WGST radio.

The show will be produced in Hollywood, Calif. It is designed for the enjoyment of fans at home or driving home from work.

Studio One Stars Cooper

Jackie Cooper will be starred in "Hound Dog Man," a simple tale of Texas hill folk, when Studio One presents the second play of its fall season at 10 p.m. on WAGA-TV.

The story is seen through the eyes of 12-year-old Cotton Kenny, who wants more than anything else to own a hound dog like his hero, Blackie Stancling, the hound dog man. How the youngster gets his pup makes for a refreshing story of universal appeal.

'King' Cole Sings On Como Show

Nat "King" Cole will make a special appearance singing and performing at the piano on the Perry Como show over WQXI at 7:45 tonight.

Como himself will sing the hit song "I Believe." The Fontaine Sisters also will be featured.

DEAR BOSS—The incredible part of Rocky Marciano's kayo of LaStarza was the speed at which the champion traveled for 11 rounds. No heavyweight champion ever has entered a ring so superbly conditioned.

In the final round, he was traveling faster and his punches were flying faster than in the first round. I talked to him as he came through the doors of his dressing room in the Giants clubhouse. 'ROCKY' — Red Buttons, creator of the "Ho-Ho" song and one of the most promising young comedians in TV, offers another of his "Rocky Buttons" characterizations on his comedy show at 9:30 p.m. on WAGA-TV. His headdress indicates a satire on football.

Van Johnson KellyUnderstudy

Van Johnson, who will do the radio dramatization of "Old Man's Bride" on General Electric Theater over the CBS radio network Thursday, Oct. 1, was understudy for Gene Kelly, when Kelly was the leading man in the Broadway show, "Pal Joey." Later, both Kelly and Johnson were stars at the same motion picture studio.

1st Woman May Head Voting Unit

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Mrs. Robert L. MacDougall, Eighth Ward member of the City Executive Committee, may become the first woman ever elected chairman when the committee reorganizes early next year.

As the only hold-over committee member, Mrs. MacDougall's friends and sponsors point out that she will be the only member of the newly elected 18-member group with previous primary election experience. They are urging her for the post to "give stability and experience to the 1957 primary, which the committee will supervise."

NOT A CANDIDATE

Although Mrs. MacDougall has not declined the post, she said yesterday "there are many members of the new committee who would make a good chairman." She indicated she definitely is not a candidate but will serve if elected.

LOGICAL CHOICE

Several newly elected committee members, however, are convinced she is the logical choice. They say she has experience and has the confidence of the committee and the public. They, however, said any decision must await the reorganization at which time they propose to nominate "her as the first woman chairman in Atlanta."

Mrs. MacDougall is the only member of the existing committee who offered for re-election. Other members of the faction-torn committee boycotted the May primary and refused to run again.

REFUND SQUABBLE

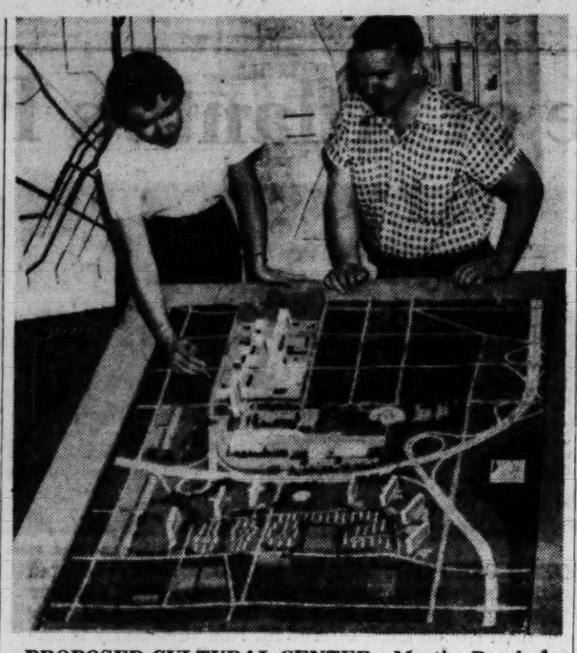

The boycott resulted from a series of circumstances. Shortly after the 1949 primary, the then Chairman L. Glenn Dewberry and Assistant Secretary Howard Monroe were relieved of their posts in a squabble over a refund to candidates. A majority of the old committee wanted to vote themselves additional money for their services, while Dewberry and Monroe led a group insisting on smaller payments to members and a larger refund.

After that battle, members of the Fulton County delegation in the Georgia Legislature secured passage of an act limiting salaries of members to $200 each for an election with an additional $300 each for the chairman and secretary. A majority of the committee members resented the action and demanded that the ceilings be abrogated. They attempted to avoid an election in the May, 1953, primary and establish the committee as a de factor group until after the November meeting of the Legislature.

ORDERED ELECTION

Prospective candidates attacked the procedure in Fulton Superior Court and the court ordered an election. At the present time, a majority of the existing committee is deferring disposition of an estimated $2,100 treasury surplus in the hope that the law will be changed and members and officials can draw additional money for conducting the 1953 primary.

A majority of the committee insists that the ceiling figures are too low while other committee members contend that the treasury balance should be distributed on a percentage basis to the 73 candidates participating in the primary since all committee funds are derived from entrance fees paid by candidates.

PROPOSED CULTURAL CENTER—Martha Rand of the Georgia Tech Architectural Library and Joe Schlosser, student, inspect the model of a proposed new cultural center for Atlanta. The model, a project of undergraduate architectural students and graduate city planning students at Tech, will be on display at the Southeastern Fair Oct. 1-11. The proposed cultural center would cover more than 300 acres bounded by Forrest avenue on the north, Auburn avenue on the south, Boulevard on the east and Peachtree street on the west. It would include a fine arts center, a science and art museum, an auditorium and music hall, an outdoor amphitheater, a commercial area and underground parking.

College Park Dentist Host to Norse Student

By MARJORY SMITH

A blond 23-year-old Norwegian dental student, who made international headlines last month by selling all his possessions to finance a trip from Germany to the bedside of his injured fiance, in Ohio, declared here he is "overwhelmed by the kindness of Americans."

Kjell Skorland, weekend house guest of a College Park dentist, added:

"Here in Atlanta I have a wonderful friend, indeed!"

The "wonderful friend" is Dr. Charles Sherman of 105 West Princeton Ave., College Park, who wrote to Skorland after reading an Associated Press dispatch in The Atlanta Constitution about the young Norwegian's journey.

Skorland, learning last month that his fiance, Miss Ellen Kielland, 23, of Oslo, Norway, an exchange student in this country, had been seriously injured in an automobile accident, rushed to her bedside.

INTERRUPTED STUDIES

He interrupted dental surgery studies in Goffingen, Germany, and sold his books, camera and other belongings in order to make the trip.

"Ellen needed me badly," he explained. "One of our friends was killed in the accident. My fiancee was driving the automobile, and in addition to serious physical injuries, she received a shock that no drug could heal.

"The only natural thing to do was to get to her and try to help her as much as I could. I can always take up my studies again, but Ellen couldn't wait. She needed my help now!"

Dr. Sherman, reading that Skorland had no money to pay his return passage and that the young man, as an immigrant, was legally barred from taking a paying job in this country, wrote a letter of encouragement and praise.

PLANS RETURN SOON

The two have corresponded since, and the dentist insisted on paying Skorland's transportation to Atlanta so they might have a personal visit. Dr. Sherman is going into the Army Oct. 1, and Skorland plans to return to Germany "as soon as I can."

"Ellen is much better," he reported. "Despite internal injuries, a broken pelvis, and a leg injury, she is now in good spirits and with a driving desire to get well. She hopes to be home by Christmas.

"And I—I hope I can get work as a sailor and so obtain my passage back to Europe. Dr. Sherman and others have helped make it possible for me to stay as long as was necessary for Ellen's sake."

The Norwegian couple, both natives of Oslo, hope to be married as soon as Skorland completes his dental studies.

Dr. Sherman arranged for Skorland to meet other native Norwegians in the Atlanta area, including Capt. Karl Thelander, Georgia Military Academy professor, who was also born in Oslo.

"I am overwhelmed at the kindness of Americans, at the interest they have displayed in a common story like mine," Skorland smiled here. "I will take back wonderful memories to my own country!"

Australians have about 15 telephones, 12 cars and 29 radio sets for every 100 people compared with 29 telephones, 28 cars and 59 radios for each 100 Americans.

POLICE BLOTTER

Weekend Burglaries Net $500

Burglars took more than $500 from six Atlanta business establishments over the weekend, police said.

Some $200 was taken from a filing cabinet at the Beautician Beauty Supply Co., Dets. H. J. Standridge and W. E. Harwell reported. Entrance was gained by climbing a fire escape and forcing bars on a second-story window.

Thieves entered the Devereaux and McDaniel Service Station, 2330 Cheshire Bridge Rd., NE, and took $365 from a cabinet, officers reported. They entered the station by breaking two windows.

At least $50 in cash and a quantity of articles were taken in burglaries at the Trinity Presbyterian Church, 3003 Howell Mill Rd., NW; Watson's Service Station, 1654 Jonesboro Rd., SW; Personalized Employment Service, 8 North Ave., NW; and Atlanta Safety Brake Service, 257 Luckie St., NW.

Booked in Fire

Mrs. Ruby Ozmer, 44, of 1083 Blue Ridge Ave., NE, Apt. 10, was booked on charges of drunk and disorderly-violating the fire ordinance, as the result of an early morning fire yesterday in her apartment, police said.

Fire department officials told police the fire was caused by a cigarette left on a sofa. The blaze damaged the living room, bedroom, bath, kitchen and furniture, police said.

Teeth, Glasses Found

Mrs. Ada Mitchell of Tampa, Fla., can recover her lower dental plate and her glasses at the Atlanta police station.

Police yesterday reported that two Atlantans found the plate and glasses, along with other personal articles beside the road at 1472 Mainard Rd., NW. They also found a coat bearing Mrs. Mitchell's name.

6 Dogs on Hands

Atlanta police yesterday had six dogs on their hands after Mrs. L. M. Colquitt of 898 Confederate Ave., SE, found five puppies and their mother in a hole in back of her residence.

Officers said the Spitz puppies appeared to be about eight weeks old. Mrs. Colquitt turned the pups and their mother over to the police station captain's office.

Theater Cashier Accuses Patron in Week-Old Holdup

A movie cashier's memory last night brought about the arrest of a 19-year-old Negro on a charge of suspicion of robbery.

Detective N. W. Flanagan said the theater cashier, Vera Crosby, said she recognized Milton Josh Verdell of 104 Beardsley St., SE, as the man who last week held up the box office of the Carver Theater at 95 McDonough Blvd., SE, at gunpoint, and escaped with $6 cash.

Another employee, Marie Virdon, also identified Verdell as he bought a ticket, police said.

DeKalb Fair To End Tonight

A gigantic fireworks display will climax the annual DeKalb County Harvest Festival at Panthersville tonight, A. M. Chandler Jr., festival chairman, announced.

Rain forced postponement of festival events Friday and Saturday, but the fair was open Sunday.

The festival will be held today from 10 a.m. until midnight. Admission is free.

Although clumsy in appearance, an armadillo can run with astonishing speed when frightened.

Mother Held In Death of Foster Child

A 41-year-old Negro woman was arrested on suspicion of murder yesterday morning after her four-year-old adopted daughter was pronounced dead on arrival at Grady Hospital. Detectives charged the child had been beaten with a baby chair.

Homicide Detectives W. D. Browning and J. M. Pack said the woman, listed as Lilly May White of 476 Humphries St., SW, told them the child had suffered severe injuries in a fall down steps and in other home mishaps.

At the woman's home, however, detectives said they found the baby's chair lying on the living room floor and blood stains on the wall. Several persons told detectives they heard the child screaming.

Detectives said the child, listed as Janie May Marshall, the niece of the woman's husband, Robert, died of multiple bruises over the body and deep cuts under the left eye.

The child was brought to the Grady colored clinic about 2:45 a.m. by the foster mother, but physicians said the child had died at least five or six hours before.

DYEING SERVICE FOR THE SOUTH—The new Loebl Dyers Atlanta shop—first and only exclusive dyeing service in Atlanta—is now ready to serve all the South through their convenient location, and with excellent mail order service. Write or visit 902 W. Peachtree St., or call VErnon 5582.

Loebl Dyers Here Features Speedy Mail Order Service

Loebl Dyers, the first and only exclusive custom dyers in Atlanta, offers excellent Mail Order service for dyeing coats, suits, dresses, evening gowns, slacks, jackets, sweaters as well as drapes, rugs, slip covers and spreads.

For the many Georgians who need their fine apparel and home furnishings dyed, inquiries should be addressed to Loebl Dyers, 902 W. Peachtree St., Atlanta, for consultation without obligation.

Robert Loebl, executive officer of the company who is here to establish the Atlanta operation, reports that their home plant in Roanoke does a tremendous amount of dye work through Mail Order for commercial, industrial and home users throughout the entire eastern seaboard.

The organization was founded in 1925, in Roanoke, Va., by Josef Loebl, its present president, who is well-known in dyeing circles and has played an important part in the growth of this industry, having one time served as president of the Society of Dyers and Cleaners. Mr. Loebl has contributed many technical articles to the cleaning and dyeing trade journals. The company is now operated by his two sons, Robert and Walter, who constantly strive to retain the high standard of quality and leadership established by its president.

The closets of Atlanta bulge with apparel and home furnishings that can and should be dyed. Now faded colors, out-of-style shades, uncleanable spots and stains, may be wearable and useable again.

Drapes, rugs, slipcovers, spreads, dresses, coats, evening gowns, suits, slacks, skirts, sweaters, woolen uniforms, etc., can be given new beauty and new value. At last you can trust your fine apparel and furnishings to dyers with a reputation across the nation for skill and quality.

All wearing apparel is measured before and after it is dyed to insure minimum shrinkage of garments. Before the clothes are returned to you they are carefully hand-finished.

Through almost miraculous technical and chemical improvements, Loebl modern redyeing can perform spectacular results for industrial, commercial and home users. These dyeing specialists have built an enviable record of success over a period of more than 25 years of constantly striving to produce quality workmanship and dependable service.

Dyeing is no longer guesswork. A well-trained Loebl counsellor will advise you regarding your dyeing problems. He will suggest the proper shades to dye your garments, which fabrics look best in light or dark colors, what to do about faded colors, and what to do about spots and stains. At Loebl garment dyeing is more than just a service, it is an art . . . a scientific process for the restoration of your valuable beloved possessions. Call VErnon 5582 for free consultation.

W. C. Cleaton, local sales represenative to the wholesale trade, who is well known among cleaners and laundrymen, will continue in this capacity and maintain his headquarters at the new 902 W. Peachtree Street shop.

Is Ideal for Night Buyers Lighted Lot

Beaudry, Inc., Atlanta's oldest Ford dealer, and for many years one of the city's largest used car dealers, is now giving used car customers better service than ever before since the opening of a new, ultramodern used car lot six weeks ago. The big one-acre lot, completely paved and brilliantly lighted, is located at 360 Williams St., right on the Expressway. It also opens on Peachtree place and Alexander St.; one of the most accessible spots in downtown Atlanta.

C. M. Daniel, Beaudry, Inc., president, stated that "a count of visitors shows that Atlantans really appreciate the added convenience our new location offers. The fact that we carry more models, offer better values and render more helpful service, has kept sales high". He added that "Beaudry's 38 years of service to its customers stands behind every sale, and every used car or truck offered for sale is certified as A-1 in quality and fully guaranteed."

Open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday, the new Beaudry lot is under the supervision of E. M. Holman, Used Car Manager, and R. S. Walters, Used Truck Manager. In addition, M. H. Sneed, Vice President and Sales Manager, and A. L. Defoor, Vice President and Truck Division Manager, give personal attention to the continued supply above-average used cars and trucks to this location. These reliable men are on the lot every week day to serve Atlantans: Jack O'Neil Camp, M. Lamar Cochran, William C. Crockett, John O. Bender, John Ivan Born, Ray E. Holcombe, Daniel F. Poarch and A. L. Wallace.

M. H. Sneed, Vice President and Sales Manager of Beaudry, termed the cars offered at the new Beaudry used car lot as "Those mostly traded in by original owners for new cars. These," he said, "are in excellent condition and will give many thousands of miles of driving pleasure." Additional cars are purchased to give prospects a wider choice of models.

All cars are sold on convenient budget terms, with small monthly payments over periods up to 24 months.

In addition to being Atlanta's oldest Ford dealer, Beaudry is one of the city's largest used car dealers. "Over $1,600,000 in used cars and trucks were sold by Beaudry last year," said Mr. Daniel, "our satisfied customers number in the thousands. Stop by soon and see our new lot at 360 Williams Street on the Expressway, then see and try our outstanding used car and truck bargains. No obligation. Courteous service is a habit at Beaudry's."

Don't Throw Away Old Furs; Let Ruben Remodel Yours

"Now is the time to have your old fur coat remodeled for the new Fall and Winter seasons."

The above timely and important announcement comes today from Max Ruben, owner and manager of Ruben's Fur Shop, 221-222 Loew's Grand Theater Building.

"It's foolish to throw away your old coat," points out Mr. Ruben, widely-known Atlanta fur specialist and designer. "We can remodel your coat, or make whatever changes are necessary to bring it up to the current fashions. Prices are reasonable."

Not only does Ruben's Fur Shop offer expert remodeling and repairs, but he also features a complete selection of new and stylish furs. Mr. Ruben makes periodic trips to the world's great fur markets in New York, and many discriminating fur buyers depend on him for the "newest in fur fashions for Atlanta women."

In regard to restyling and remodeling of old coats, Mr. Ruben says:

"Folks have learned that when they want furs remodeled, cleaned reconditioned or repaired, it pays to go to a skilled and trained fur man—just as they would go to a highly skilled doctor for some physical remedy. If they want a jam-up stylish suit of clothes, they go to a practical tailor—a man who knows—not merely just to the man who sells clothes.

"The people of Atlanta and vicinity have learned of my long and practical experience in handling furs—in repairing, remodeling and reconditionnig them. In addition, I guarantee the workmanship. As a consequence, I have been highly pleased with the reception I have received from fur owners and fur wearers."

Incidentally, Mr. Ruben designs original styles for individual customers. And in remodeling, he first makes a fitting of cloth material, so that a perfect fit of the remodeled coat is assured. Ruben's Shop also will regloss your furs to restore lost luster.

Engaged in the fur business for many years—practically all his life—Mr. Ruben extends a cordial invitation to the women of Atlanta to visit his shop in Loew's Grand Theater Building. Select your new coat for the Winter, or bring your old coat for re-designing. Call Mr. Ruben at WAlnut 8751, and make an appointment to see his line of furs—or just come in during the day.

"IT'S BEAUTIFUL"—Latest styles in smart furs and fur accessories are featured by Ruben's Fur Shop, 221-222 Loew's Grand Theater Building. Max Ruben, above, specializes in remodeling old fur coats into current styles, such as cloche capes, stoles, short coats, etc. Above, he gives full approval to the handsome fur coat modeled by a customer. See story.

Padre Gives Relic To U. S. Chaplain

ORLEANS, France—(INS)—A sacred relic is helping promote better relations between the French people and U. S. servicemen and their families stationed in France.

The relic, part of the 14 Century-old skull of Benedict reposing in a small silver case with a replica of the Saint's original medal on the reverse side, was presented by the Bishop of Orleans, Msgr. Picard de la Vacquerie, to Col. H. F. Donovan of Baltimore, Md., command chaplain of USMAREUR Communications Zone.

Chaplain Donovan said the relic was symbolic of the "very cordial Franco-American relations" which have developed during the past few years through U. S. Army chapels and French churches.

"I regard it as a rare and valuable token," he said, "a true moment of the high esteem in which the Bishop and the people of Orleans and of France hold the men of our Army and their families.

Airlines Carry U. S. Couriers

WASHINGTON — (INS)—Back in 1903, when Secretary of State John Hay dispatched top-secret messages by courier to the other side of the world, months passed before delivery and receipt of the replies.

A message going to Bangkok, Siam, in those days took nearly three months.

That same year, 1903, the Wright Brothers invented the airplane and changed the face of the earth—and the tempo of diplomacy.

Today, in a tense world and an air age, one of the State Department's 89 couriers can deliver an important document to Bangkok in less than three days—one-thirtieth the time it took his predecessor 50 years ago. And he can travel on regularly scheduled airlines all the way.

Planes, official organ of Aircraft Industries Association, said these couriers constitute one of the world's most vital and secret "special delivery" agencies. Each year, they carry pouches of the world's most momentous documents a distance of almost 10,000,000 miles by air.

Won't Force Stricter Ban On China Trade—Stassen

Cites Rise in Non-Strategic Goods; U.S. Holding Line

had in force during the Korean conflict.

In respect to the latter the report explained the United States has been forced to realize that China trade could be advantageous to the free world. This apparently was an answer to congressional pressure groups which have been urging the administration to bring other free nations into line with our strict China trade embargo.

"FAR MORE HARM"

"We had to recognize," the report noted, "that our sovereign countries were entitled to make judgments of their own with respect to their own trade, and that we could not stop their non-strategic shipments without taking measures that in the long run would do the free world and the United States far more harm than the existing trade could possibly do."

The report, however, warned private trading interests against entering unofficial trade agreements with Peiping. It noted that some of these private interests in some countries of the free world "have been hoping that the barriers standing in the way of unrestricted trade with China would be eliminated, or at least lowered somewhat," so that the strategic embargo would be no more strict than the embargo on shipments to the European Soviet bloc.

The United States and Canada are the only two countries with total embargoes on trading with China. Japan carries on some trade but has maintained a heavy list of embargoed commodities outside the strategic materials classification.

"CONSULT CLOSELY"

"Private arrangements should not be confused with the official actions of governments, which continue to consult closely with one another and to examine all proposals in the light of the security of the free world," the report stated.

The report noted that the foreign ministers of Britain, France and the United States, after meeting in Washington, issued a communique July 14 which stated that under then-existing circumstances and pending further consultations the common policies of the three powers toward Communist China should be maintained

In 1952 the free world exported $257,000,000 in goods to China and imported about $345,000,000. The British crown colony of Hong Kong exported $91,000,000 and imported $145,000,000. The United States imported $27,700,000. Japan imported $15,000,000 and exported about $500,000.

GEA President Will Speak at District Parley

The one-day meeting will include special interest clinics for GEA departments and affiliate groups.

Prince Told to Pay Rent or Quit Palace

BOMBAY, India, Sept. 27. (AP)—Prince Muazzam Jah, eldest son of the Nizam of Hyderabad, has been told to pay the rent of his fairy tale palace overlooking Hussein Sagar Lake, or get out, a government spokesman said today.

Prince Muzzam rents the palace from the Hyderabad government which took it over in 1948 following the partition of India. He has not paid any rent since last October, the spokesman said, and faces eviction unless he clears up the arrears of 150,000 rupees, $32,000.

grounds. None ever went through college and most never graduated from high school. But they were not America's underprivileged.

None are officers. Except for one sergeant and two corporals they all are privates.

They came to the Panmunjom neutral zone last Thursday to be handed over to Indian custodial forces as determined men. But they were tense and some may have been unsure. They feigned indifference to American newsmen standing by, and refused to look them in the eye.

Some of them later demonstrated against an Allied observation team, calling them "capitalists."

With that background U.S. officials are wondering what approach to take when the chance comes to talk to them.

First they must figure out the reasons these 23 are different from more than 3,500 other Americans who underwent the same horrors of capitivity but did not go over to communism.

GROUPS SET

Roughly they classified them into three groups:

1—The very weakest men of all America's captured soldiers. These are men so weak and blind they can be influenced permanently by the opinions of others. In this case the opinions of others extolled Communism and these men fell for it.

2—Strong men who were leftists before they went into the Army. These are men so strongly opinionated they consider themselves martyrs and are willing to sacrifice their families for "the cause."

3—The men who are afraid to go home. These are the most insufferable of the "rats" and "squealers" who made life living death for other POWs.

These men, and at least two of them were named by returning Americans during Big Switch, actually caused the death of fellow POWs and were marked for reprisals. They would rather live in the hell of Red China than face the consequences.

One American official said it was his personal opinion that roughly one-third of the group are the weak, one-third the strong and one-third the afraid.

CAST AWAY

What many of these men possibly do not realize is that the Communists very probably do not want them.

They are truly to become the 20th Century's men without a country because wherever they choose to go they will not be accepted.

Most will probably choose to go to Red China. But their propaganda value is all but exhausted and they will be of little further use to the Reds.

And they will be suspected. They will be cast aside for the Communists will never trust them. The Reds will suspect that most of them are actually American agents, just as the Americans suspect that some Chinese nonrepatriates are spies.

These men are sitting today in a crowded hut a lone mile from Panmunjom's peace pagoda. It is the longest, hardest mile in the world for them.

Court Plans DeKalb Jury List Hearing

and the names of more than 80 others were dropped from the jury lists during the 1953 revision of the list.

The county's grand jury system was under fire during the DeKalb government reorganization fight last spring when opponents of the defeated plan called the jury a "political tool" of the county's present administration.

Guess said the two Superior Court judges, the five grand jury commissioners who revised the lists and the citizens who brought the original revision complaint would be called to the public hearing.

Any other person whose names were dropped from the list and wish an explanation will be welcome at the hearing, he added.

WONDER WHY

Several other ousted jurors contacted by the Constitution said they knew no reason why their names should be dropped. Some names removed from the list were found to be those of persons who had died or moved away.

Walter Scott, chairman of the jury commission, has denied that politics played a part in the revision.

The judges appoint the commissioners and have a right to remove them "for cause."

"This revision business isn't all there is to this grand jury thing," Hutchins commented yesterday. "We're going to show some facts and figures at our meeting Tuesday."

The Lithonia attorney would not elaborate on what charges would be aired by the league.

Hutchins said John J. Flint, solicitor of the Griffin circuit, will speak to his group on "Good Government."

Liz Taylor Remains In Denmark Seclusion

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Sept. 27—(AP)—Screen star Elizabeth Taylor remained in seclusion today with her husband and eight-month-old son, although several fans shouted outside her hotel for "Liz" to appear on the balcony.

Miss Taylor was ordered to have two weeks' rest after an attack of what her husband, actor Michael Wilding, called "just tiredness." Her son, Michael, was flown here yesterday from London to be with her.

Sterilization Seen Solution To Housing

CHESTERFIELD, England, Sept. 27 (AP)—Sterilization for "problem families" was recommended today by a British medical officer as a way of cutting public housing expenses.

Dr. J.R. Graham said, "Some means will have to be found to deal with the problem at the source."

Dr. Graham complained that the problem families have strings of unwanted children and wreck the homes which the counties rent out. Urging sterilization in some cases, Dr. Graham said, "Very many problem families spring from bad stock and such parents are likely to produce bad stock."

"In the bad old days, a process of the survival of the fittest eliminated many of the bad stock, but under present conditions state and local aid enable them to exist and increase."

Referring to neighbors of these families, Graham noted: "It cannot be pleasant for a decent, clean housewife to live next door to such people. The comfort of the average decent citizen, who makes no fuss, is sometimes rather apt to be overlooked."

Navy To Put Copper Scrap on Market

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Navy announced today that with the return of a "normal" copper supply it will resume disposal of its copper scrap through competitive bidding by private dealers.

Since September 1951, the Navy has channeled its copper scrap to Naval contractors who were unable to obtain the copper necessary to complete defense contracts. The Navy said this procedure enabled it to meet urgent production schedules, reduce costs, and ease the drain upon national copper supply during the Korean war.

IT'S HARVEST TIME IN GEORGIA

Harvest time is a time of fulfillment, as Georgia provides for her people in ever-increasing abundance. Ours is a prosperity that stems from today's diversity of crops, though cotton remains king. Greater areas are being devoted to pasturage for a thriving cattle industry, a tobacco crop surpassing that of all other years. Sales at the Farmers' Market reached a new high for '53 and the broiler industry chalked up a business of a hundred million dollars. It is our Georgia that supplies 50% of the world's naval stores, produces peanuts, apples, peppers, corn, grain and vegetables in profusion. All is indicative of the progress about us, predictive of the future ahead of us . . . especially promising when it's Harvest time in Georgia.

Slow-Motion Technique Gets Results

By IDA JEAN KAIN

I'd like to go through an exercise session with you. Not that it is strictly necessary to take slimnastics at a specified hour, but it does help to fix the habit beautifully.

In the movies, a slow-motion pace shows exactly how a movement is followed through. In this session, we will act out each movement in slow motion. The new technique is being put into force to help keep you on the streamlined exercise beam. Unzip the zipper on whatever you are wearing so nothing binding can hamper your movements. Arc arms above head and clasp hands. Do not stretch arms upwards, that word arc means to round them, ballet fashion.

MUSCLES LIFT

Now, arms arched overhead, pull slim through the middle, making the middle muscles themselves do the lifting. You should feel as if you were pulling your waist up away from the hipbones, and pulling the ribs out of the waist.

Make this an elongated, smooth upstretch. When the stretch is centered, the girdle, waist, and midriff muscles are all in the act. That is just what is desired.

Once you get the knack of putting the stretch in the right place, the mind directs the action there every time.

ADD SIDE BEND

On the third upstretch, hold the lift and carry the movement on, adding a side-bend. Slowly and smoothly bend toward the right side—bending only so far as it feels comfortable. Then slowly come back to the upright position and, taking a fresh grip on the upstretch through the midsection, bend smoothly to the left. This even feels slimming. Repeat easily about four times, alternating sides.

If you are rusty on exercise, this will be enough for a starter. The aim is to become more supple—not stiff. You can end the session by dropping arms down toward the floor, letting hands dangle floorwards, and bobbing up and down limply.

This releasing movement allows the tension to ooze out of the muscles and leaves you with a nice feeling of well-being.

Send for WAKE UP AND STRETCH, addressing request to Ida Jean Kain, care of this newspaper. Please enclose long stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Pre-School Girls Like Those Billowing Skirts

By AGNES McCARTY

Pre-school girls young enough to cling to mama's petticoat are now demanding billowing skirts of their own.

Washable cotton frocks with surprisingly sophisticated touches are as appealing to a four-year-old as mother's face powder.

One gray and white checked cotton is bodice-trimmed with rows of bright red pleating. Peter pan collar is piped in red. Very full skirt has a red dust ruffle that peeks out when little sis bends over to retrieve a toy. This dress is most effective when worn over a permanently starched nylon petticoat. Dress costs $7.98.

Another afternoon dress for the prospective Junior Leaguer is of bright green cotton broadcloth with its three-tiered skirt and set-in yoke outlined by graduated bands of white. White peter pan collar and tiny buttons are used at the neckline. Dress costs $10.95.

For the precocious tailored type there's a navy blue cotton in simulated jumper style with three huge pearl buttons down the front. A simulated white blouse with navy collar fills in the square cut bodice. Dress price is $7.98.

All these dresses have huge hems. Stand-out skirts worn over stiff petticoats make even the spriteliest little girl look more like sugar than spice.

Fashions are available in Atlanta. For shopping information call WA. 5050, ext. 397.

2,724 Is a Crowd --Of Fish, That Is

HIAWASSEE—One of the things that draws us city dwellers to the North Georgia hill country is that beautiful, peaceful feeling of aloneness that we get up here. There are spots in the mountains, where that feeling is a bit overdone, of course. I first got in trouble with the poet, Herbert Byron Reece, several years ago by suggesting that the absolutely uninhabited mountain areas lacked the charm of the peaks and valleys where you could see the spire of a little white church, hear a cowbell or a rooster crow.

But still, we don't want the mountains to become as thickly settled as Peachtree Street and when I got the word that Hiawassee had become one of the densest population spots in Georgia, imagine my chagrin.

There's a trick to it, of course. All that population is under water!

Two days last week the State Game and Fish department, aided and abetted by game wardens and various TVA officials, took a population check on the fish in Lake Chatuge near the Hiawassee city limits. When I first heard about it, I had a silly mental picture of a bunch of serious minded game wardens approaching a cynical old papa bass with notebook in hand and interviewing him about his age, occupation, number of children, etc.

Naturally it was not handled that way and the way it was handled struck me as extremely interesting. Purpose of the census was to determine if the 7,150-acre Lake Chatuge needed to be re-stocked with fish and what fish exactly were missing.

So the census corps, headed by Fred J. Dickson, C. E. Lane Jr., and Jack Chance, all of the Game and Fish Department, roped off an area approximately the size of a city block and put out a chemical which temporarily paralyzes the gills of the fish, causing them to get the vapors or something and rise to the surface.

While the fish floated around feeling puny the census takers counted them like mad and came up with a total of 2,724 in a space 210 feet square.

Fisherman may be interested to know that the Blue Gill family dominates the lake, numbering 1,761 members in that section. The other species counted in the first 24 hours: Bass, 120; crappie, 204; Warmouth, 344; shellcrackers, eight; red breast, 26; yellow perch, 245; channel cat, seven; gold fish, four; minnows, three; carp, two.

The conclusions of the census takers was that no restocking is needed since Ma Nature is apparently doing a creditable job herself. One official said that on the other hand, the lake is getting a bit crowded and suggested asking for more fishermen to work at the job longer hours.

In a way you get the idea that modern methods have taken the guesswork out of everything, even fishing. But there's still plenty of suspense left in it for some of us, who could fish till doomsday in a wash tub filled with perch and still not get a nibble.

Science is doing something else up here to make the fisherman happy, though. Seems you won't have to douse yourself with oil of citronella while you wait for the Blue Gills to jump in the boat. That little helicopter we've noted playing around the shoreline has been spraying mosquitos!

SHE SAID:

"Oh, no... you dance very well!"

SHE MEANT:

"You know all the steps but the most important one!"

NEVER had he looked forward with so much anticipation to a dance. But now—with the girl of his dreams in his arms—he just didn't seem to "click." Why?

What he didn't realize (and you may not realize it either) is that odor offense is a problem "superficial" measures won't cope with. You can bathe daily, apply underarm deodorants often—and still offend! You can brush your teeth regularly, use mouthwashes, too... and still offend!

What's needed is to strike odors at their source. Listen...

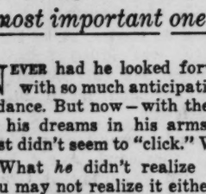

In a scientific odor test (involving hundreds of examinations) "ENNDS" stopped breath and body odors both, all day. Stopped them for more than 9 out of 10 people!

You see, "ENNDS" Tablets are rich in "Darotol," a special chlorophyll derivative that's been scientifically proved to suppress certain odor-forming substances within the body.

That's how "ENNDS" keep you fresh as a daisy all over. They sweeten your breath—check body odors, too.

Safe. Pleasant-tasting. "ENNDS" cost only pennies a day. Take them regularly. Trial size, only 49¢. Larger sizes even more economical. Most effective odor protection you can buy!

and keep your friends!

Party Decorations Hit New Heights

Though to Mrs. Granger Hansell her decorations for the reception at which she and Mr. Hansell entertained for the newlywed Ned Hansells at Mimosa Hall on Saturday were "very simple," they were beautiful enough to draw gasps of delight from her guests.

While feminine visitors grew lyrical over the alabaster vases filled with yellow carnations, Fugii chrysanthemums and gladioli, and a punch bowl overflowing with yellow roses in the spacious double drawing room, the gentlemen were completely taken with a rather startling arrangement in the entrance hall. Here a Nubian figure which the Hansells brought from England on their last trip held a huge tray heaped high with lemons, Persian limes, black grapes, pineapples and golden plums. The ebony figure wore a lei of yellow carnations around its neck.

All guests agreed, however, on the decorations in the dining room which featured the white and green bridal motif. The polished mahogany table was centered with three baccarat shelled supported by a bronze Dore figure and filled with fragrant valley lilies and gardenias. At either end of the table was a round mirror plateau holding a directoire candelabrum sparkling with many prisms, in which white tapers burned. Garlands of gardenias outlined the mirrors.

Hemerocallis Society To Meet Here Friday

By YOLANDE GWIN

Georgia Hemerocallis Society members will gather in Atlanta Friday, Oct. 2, for the semiannual meeting of the state society.

Mrs. Hugh Lester, president, said at her home in Atlanta yesterday that the meeting would follow luncheon at 1 p. m. at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

"We do not intend to make this a long drawn out gathering," Mrs. Lester said, "for we have packed the program with important features. Milton Blanton will show colored slides of some of the old and new varieties of lilies. There will be a round table discussion by members. Officers will be elected and plans will be outlined for the convention in Valdosta next spring."

The hemerocallis, which most fanciers call the daylily, is a dependable, easily-grown plant and adapts itself to ordinary garden soil in any part of the country.

Daylilies can be grown in all types of soil; rich, poor, acid, alkaline, sandy or clay. When summers are unusually hot and dry, as has been the case in Atlanta this year, the lilies should be planted or transplanted in early fall. Once established, the daylily produces fine flowers year after year and handsome foliage that stays green all summer.

Daylilies can take it, but remember, like anything else, they do best when you're kind to them.

'Pittsburgh' Sprouts in Soviet Asia

By HARRISON E. SAILSBURY

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

KARAGANDA, U.S.S.R., Sept. 19—This city deep in the Soviet Union's Asiatic heartland is the fastest growing industrial center of these vast inner continental reaches and one that Americans will hear more of as years go by.

This correspondent has just spent a few unexpected hours in Pittsburgh of central Kazakhstan, one of the great Soviet industrial citadels. It was the first time any American had seen Karaganda since Henry A. Wallace, former U.S. vice president, spent four or five hours here in 1944 during World War II.

ENGINE FAILS

Today's visit to Karaganda was made after the visitor's plane had been held up by engine trouble. It was an accidental by-product of a tour of a large number of central Asian centers including the principal cities of four of the five Soviet central Asian republics. Many of these points have never been visited by a U.S. correspondent. Some have not been seen before by any American.

The present trip to these central Asian areas is ordinary tourist travel made possible through Soviet action last June in removing a number of travel restrictions.

Two facets are interesting about Karaganda: The rate with which it is growing and the size it has already reached. This industrial center is the product entirely of Soviet times and has been built largely by special Soviet methods in the last 20 years.

COAL MINES

The city is founded upon the base of great coal mines. There are three huge open-pit mines at Karaganda, the largest of which is said to have a production of more than 6,000 tons daily.

The amazing thing about Karaganda is that it is not one city, but really three. The satellite steel-producing city of Temir-Tau has sprung up just northwest of Karaganda. Just southwest of Karaganda is Saran, the site of more coal mines.

In the 1939 census, Karaganda had a population of 166,000. With its satellite towns, it has now easily tripled that mark.

Thousands of Hours Spent on Chest Drive

Several thousand hours were spent by 40 leading Atlanta citizens in study, inspection, and down-to-cases discussion before the $1,724,055 Community Chest goal was set, Robert F. Whitaker, chairman of the goal-setting committee, asserted yesterday.

The campaign to raise the funds will start Sept. 30 with a Dutch treat breakfast of more than 1,000 heads of Atlanta business firms at 8:15 a.m. at the Biltmore Hotel.

The Chest goal was prepared by the budget committee, which weighed the human needs involved and sifted the methods which each chest agency uses to minister to those needs.

Budget Chairman Whitaker estimates that he personally has put in 480 hours since budget study started in March. Other committee members have devoted comparative amounts of time.

The budget committee is composed of 32 men and eight women. It is divided into five subcommittees, one for each of the five "fields of service" covered by chest agencies. Each subcommittee reviewed the work of each agency in its field, looked into details of its operation, went over plans for future service, inspected its facilities. The group weighed the services of each agency in relation to the others.

Then the entire committee reviewed the findings of the subcommittees, Whitaker explained, balancing them against each other to assure that the budget proposals would be distributed properly according to the usefulness of each agency and each "field of service."

"The committee took into consideration the growth of Atlanta's population and possible need for expanded service," Whitaker said. "It also considered the fact that large sums of money are not easily raised. So the committee kept its budgets as low as it thought they could be kept and still do the job this community has a right to expect its Red Feather agencies to do."

Whitaker explained that the chest budget committee continually checks on financial operations.

The committee will meet again in December, after the drive, to make final allocations for 1954 expenditures.

Subcommittee chairmen are educator Dr. James R. McCain for family and individual care agencies, attorney Hughes Spalding Jr. for health agencies, attorney Edwin L. Sterne for group work agencies, banker George S. Craft for central service agencies, and attorney Herbert R. Elsas for child care agencies.

Here's How Chest Budget Is Divided

The Community Chest budget is set up in five fields of service, and the budget of each field includes a pro rata share for central organization and planning.

Here's how the Chest budget is divided:

1. Family and Individual Care .... $371,494.
(Atlanta Legal Aid Society, Family Service Society, Florence Crittenton Home, Federation for Jewish Social Service, Family and Children's Bureau, Goodwill Industries, Salvation Army Family Bureau, Travelers' Aid Society.)

2. Health ....$153,324.
(Atlanta Humane Society, Morris Hirsch Dental Clinic, Battle Hill Haven Happy Haven, A. G. Rhodes Home, Visiting Nurse Association.)

3. Group Work $686,128
(Atlanta Boys Clubs, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Federation for Jewish Social Service Alliance and Community Center, Girl Scouts, Metropolitan Association for Colored Blind, Salvation Army Corps Centers, Butler Street YMCA, Metropolitan YMCA, Central YWCA, Phillis Wheatley YWCA.)

4. Child Care ....$356,475.
(Atlanta Child's Home, Carrie Steele Pitts Home, Child Service Association, Gate City Day Nursery, Hillside Cottages, Sheltering Arms.)

5. Central Service Agencies $54,520

Total for five fields .$1,621,941
United Defense Fund (including USO) $102,114

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 27—M. N. Strickland of Atlanta, driving expertly over wet tracks, yesterday won the national title in tractor-semi-trailer single axle class for the second consecutive year in American Trucking Association's National Truck Roadeo at Minnesota State Fairgrounds.

Strickland, with a record of 150,000 accident-free miles during the past two years, faced the finals on a track dampened by rain.

Strickland defeated second-place winner Kelley Harris, Jackson, Miss., and William K. Heiser, Baltimore, Md.

Strickland, a Navy veteran, is married and has three children.

Old Lantern Lights Church Communion

TALBOTTON, Sept. 27—(AP)—Episcopalians from Atlanta, Columbus and a number of surrounding towns today took part in a holy communion and baptismal service by the light of a century-old lantern at the 108-year-old Zion Episcopal Church here.

Emissaries from St. Philip's Episcopal Cathedral in Atlanta presented hymnals and prayer books to the local congregation during a colorful service directed by the Rev. C. R. Campbell, Columbus, priest in charge.

A brass lantern reported not to have burned since 1862 was burning during the service. It recently was discovered in the church belfry.

A silver service presented the church in 1855 by R. W. B. Eliott, son of the first Episcopal Bishop of Georgia, was used for the communion service.

The old church, standing in its original form, boasts a 100-year-old Pilcher pipe organ.

11 Georgia Car Deaths Are Tallied

Ten Georgians died in highway crashes over the weekend, a California couple was killed in a traffic accident, and two others died in violent accidental deaths.

A head-on collision four miles east of Rockmart, resulted in the death Saturday of a 17-year-old soldier and critically injured three other Polk Countians.

Fatally injured was Clyde Townsend, 17, of Rockmart. He was dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Three Negroes of Dupont, Ga., were killed near Homerville in Clinch county when the car in which they were riding crashed into another vehicle. They were Hall Wyman, 30, David Ponder, 25, and Ben Monroe, 28.

Two Georgia men died in an auto accident near Okeechobee, Fla., Saturday night. They were 32-year-old Fonzie Burgamy of Wrightsville and Lewis K. Edwards, 26, of Harrison.

William A. Easler, 38, of Lumber City, was killed Saturday night when his car sideswiped another car and hit a utility pole in Helena.

Raymond Lamar Lester, 14, of 224 E. Cleveland Ave., East Point, died yesterday at Grady Hospital of injuries suffered Saturday when a truck hit a station wagon at Campbellton and New Hope Roads.

Four other East Point teenagers were taken to Grady Hospital. They were Tony Glynn Hanson, 15, of 315 Lyle Ave.; Dorothy Annette Alley, 16, of 621 W. Forest Ave., in critical condition; Raymond L. Marks, 16, of 311 S. Harris St., and Peggy Ann Lockridge, 16, of 308 Neely Ave., reported in serious condition.

Henry Wise Fairrington, 59, of Garden Grove, Calif., was killed Friday when his car swerved off U.S. Highway 80 east of Columbus, veered back on the road and struck another car. His wife, Irma, 50, who was injured, died yesterday in a Columbus hospital.

An automobile plunged over a 50-foot embankment near Dawsonville and took Gordon O. Roland, 32, of Juno, to his death.

Ossie Gorman, 50, was struck by a train at a grade crossing on Main Street in Flowery Branch.

Victim of a fall was Jefferson McKay Bonner, 23, who died at University Hospital at Augusta after falling from a 30-foot platform while engaged in construction work.

A Rhyme a Day

"An independent cross-section study of families in 14 states indicates couples with children, and in the age bracket of late 30s or early 40s, are best adjusted to the business of living."—Article quote.

The longer you stay here, the more you discover . . . that life's like a woman with man as the lover . . . he's often discouraged when shamefully treated . . . but clings to them both though he's often defeated.

At times he becomes so completely disgusted . . . with life and the woman in whom he has trusted . . . he's ready to quit; then he's treated so sweetly . . . he gives in again and surrenders completely.

You have to be patient in life and keep going . . . and doing your best though there's no way of knowing . . . if you will succeed with the effort expended . . . but hope for the best when the journey is ended.

They both bring you pleasure, they both bring you sorrow . . . you live through today and you hope for tomorrow . . . and finally learn that no one has invented . . . a wife or a life that is wholly contented.

KNOW YOUR GEORGIA By C. J. Holleran

Top Spot of Ante-Bellum Georgia

This is the season when football and baseball crowds jam the sporting arenas of America. Although these sports were unknown in pre-Civil War days, our Georgia folks were just as sports-minded then as they are today. The "football" of that era was the piraguas races. These boats were manned by crews of slaves who were scientifically trained and conditioned throughout the year just as our athletes are now. The races were held all along the Georgia coast and the rich plantation owners wagered vast sums on their entries. The piraguas was from 25 to 50 feet long and was manned by crews of six or eight oarsmen. A prize of $10,000 usually was awarded the winner.

CONSTIPATED?

John W. Forister of Memphis, Tenn., shares his discovery of relief with you!

"I think the whole world should know how I finally got relief from constipation! Especially since I tried so many laxatives and didn't get the relief I wanted!

"I bought a bottle of Sal Hepatica at the drugstore one day on a friend's suggestion. And the next time I had that logy, headachy feeling due to constipation, I took a glass of sparkling Sal Hepatica. Took it half an hour before supper like the label said to. And, by bedtime, believe me, I really felt swell!"

Yes, take Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again... usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VanDELLEN

Gall Bladder Surgery Seems Safer Today

There's a strange relationship between the gall bladder and the heart, and now and then removal of a diseased gall bladder in a person with angina pectoris is followed by improvement in the heart condition. Many years ago the father of one of my good friends was ready to give up the ghost. He had heart disease, was incapacitated because of upper abdominal pain that extended into the breastbone, and was losing weight fast; everything he ate "turned to gas."

This man knew he had gallstones because X-rays had been taken several years previously. Operation had been advised, but he refused because of his cardiac condition.

But as distress grew worse he decided to take the chance, and the results were miraculous. Pain vanished and he was able to resume his daily activities.

PRESENT-DAY figures demonstrate that the operation is safer and that more oldsters are taking advantage of the improvements in technique, modern anesthesia, penicillin, blood transfusions, and every other life saving aid which contributes to a successful outcome.

The frequent association of heart and gall bladder disease has led many physicians to recommend early removal of a stone filled organ even though symptoms are not bothersome.

They base their contention on the fact that silent stones may at any moment become bad actors by causing inflammation or painful colic when a stone decides to migrate from the gall bladder.

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠ Q J 5 ♥ A 10 3 4 ♦ Q 7 4 ♣ 7 4 3
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 heart	2 hearts
4 hearts	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four no trump. This is not a conventional bid but merely designates a good all around hand. If partner has advertised a game in his own hand, your holding in spades and diamonds should be very helpful, and the ace of hearts should provide a discard. We do not approve a double for that would tend to suggest to partner to abandon slam prospects in favor of a penalty.

—o—

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠ K Q 7 3 ♥ A J 10 5 ♦ 8 3 ♣ K J 6
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 diam.	Dbl.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—With this magnificent holding you should insist upon a game contract, and rather than jump the bidding in a four card major suit, we would prefer a false cue bid of two diamonds, forcing to game and asking partner to select the suit, proceeding to game in either spades or hearts, whichever he selects.

—o—

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠ 6 ♥ Q 4 ♦ A K J 8 4 ♣ A 10 8 6 3
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South
3 diams.	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. It would be delightful to be able to double the three diamond bid for penalties. Unfortunately, however, we cannot blow both hot and cold for we find the double of three, especially in a minor, very useful as a take out signal. It is better to pass and play for a profit. If you double, there is too much likelihood partner will bid spades.

—o—

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠ 6 ♥ A K 10 8 5 3 ♦ K J 10 8 ♣ A 6
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 spades	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. This will mark you as holding six hearts and four diamonds and should permit partner to make the decision in an enlightened manner.

—o—

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠ 7 ♥ K J 4 ♦ A 10 9 7 6 4 2 ♣ Q J
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 diam.	Pass
3 no trmp.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—The proper approach to the current problem is this: "What would be my response if partner had opened with a bid of two no trump?" I think under those conditions you would be willing to bid a slam in diamonds. Your partner's jump rebid to three no trump describes a hand of about the high card content of an opening two no trump bid, so that a six diamond bid is our choice.

—o—

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠ 7 4 ♥ A K Q J 10 8 4 3 ♦ A ♣ 7 3
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 diam.	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
3 diams.	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
4 diams.	Pass	4 no trmp.	Pass
5 diams.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five hearts, and even that contract may be in jeopardy. There is no justification for any more vigorous action. You must not lose sight of the fact that you have already made a slam try in the form of an immediate jump shift to two hearts. Partner has offered no encouragement and has made minimum responses all along. Furthermore, he has only one ace which may be knocked out on the opening lead, making the cashing of the diamonds by no means a certainty.

—o—

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠ K J 4 ♥ A Q 10 8 ♦ A 4 ♣ A K 9 5
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 heart	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—With this powerful holding you naturally will not settle for less than a game and would like to explore slam possibilities without getting above the game level should partner prove to have a weak hand. A jump shift is therefore indicated, and the suggested call is three diamonds with the intention, of course, of supporting hearts next round. Our second choice, but a poor second, would be a jump to four hearts, but this would not adequately describe the strength of the hand. (This hand is worth 22 points in support of hearts.) A complete demerit is in order if your answer was three hearts, for such a jump by the opening bidder is not forcing on the responder.

—o—

Q. 8—Your partner has opened with one spade and you hold:
♠ A 9 8 7 4 2 ♥ J 10 6 4 ♦ A J ♣ 6
What is your response?

A.—Three spades, forcing to game. Dspite the possession of six trumps, a leap to four spades would be improper. Such a bid denotes a highly unbalanced hand with great trump support, but it must not contain as many as two quick tricks. This hand is the equivalent of an opening bid, and the strength showing jump is clearly indicated.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME — By Hatlo

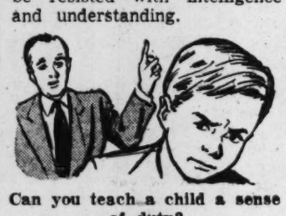

YOUR MIND'S MIRROR

Do some people like to suffer?

Answer: Yes, most of us do at times. We often make ourselves suffer deliberately by tormenting our minds with regret, censure, etc. We think of suffering as "noble" and pride ourselves on our ability to suffer courageously. Suffering serves as retribution for our wrong-doings and often brings us sympathy and a sense of importance. Actually, suffering is a destructive emotional outlet, a hiding place from reality, and should be resisted with intelligence and understanding.

Can you teach a child a sense of duty?

Answer: Yes, but not until he is old enough to derive emotional satisfaction in the performance of duty. Forcing him to follow certain habits may result in unexpressed hostility, and a problem of defiance for the mother. Punishment will only breed fear and delay his learning process. "Training should proceed in an atmosphere of love and trust," writes Dr. Benjamin Spock, "and should be carried only to the point where it is easy and natural for the child.

Is there an aptitude test for musical talent?

Answer: Yes, many schools employ testing and measuring devices for musical ability; tests which determine auditory acuity and discrimination, memory, coordination, etc. Dr. Jacob Kwalwasser of the College of Fine Arts at Syracuse University has tested large numbers of school children and has found many youngsters with superior talent who had no knowledge of their exceptional ability. Such tests also help in selecting the instrument for which a child is best suited.

Free Booklet Tells How Deaf Hear Again With Startling Clarity, Ease

CHICAGO (Special) — New hope for the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing was voiced by a noted Chicago acoustical scientist.

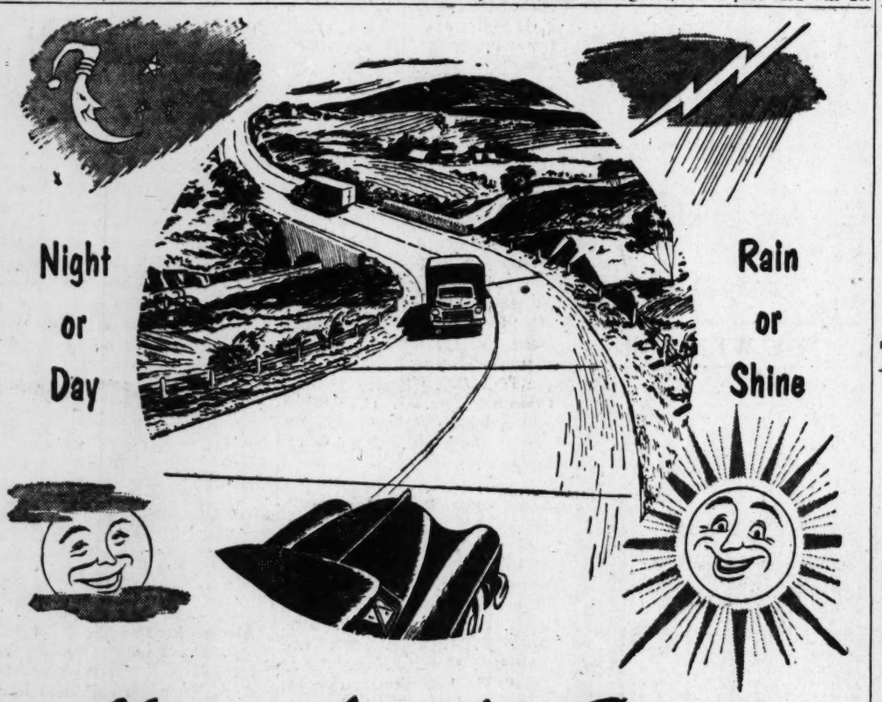

He reported that through the miracle of modern electronics it is now possible to overcome deafness even if the loss is severe.

He demonstrated how the deaf can hear again with a clarity and ease they never dreamed possible.

According to this electronic engineer, Mr. Sam Posen of Beltone, "the longer a hearing loss is neglected, the harder it is to recapture certain speech sounds and understand them."

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with what may be done to help the deaf hear again with miraculous clarity, full authoritative details about deafness and how to overcome it are described in an informative, new, illustrated booklet, which will be sent in a plain wrapper without any cost or obligation.

To obtain your free copy, simply send your request to: Electronic Research Director, Dept. 683A, Beltone Hearing Aid Co., 3900 W. 36th St., Chicago 32, Ill. A post card will do.

You can depend on Concrete ...it's the SAFETY pavement!

All over America highway deaths are reaching tragic proportions. The first step in reducing this terrible annual toll is to pave our highways with the safety pavement—concrete. Here are the reasons why concrete pavements have such a high degree of built-in safety:

AT NIGHT light-colored concrete reflects more light. You can see farther and you can see obstructions, pavement edges and pedestrians clearly.

RAIN OR SHINE concrete's gritty surface provides uniformly high skid resistance. You can stop quickly and safely in emergencies.

NIGHT OR DAY concrete is a safer pavement because of its high light reflectance and skid resistance. It also is free from hazardous ruts, corrugations and chuckholes. This built-in safety may prevent accidents for you!

Concrete also offers outstanding economy. It is moderate in first cost yet costs far less to maintain and lasts much longer. Result: low-annual-cost service.

It's your money, Mr. Highway User, that pays for highways. Get the most for your dollars. Insist on the safety and economy of concrete roads.

Agronomist Alexander Dies at 63

DEAD AT 63
E. D. Alexander

Constitution State News Service

ATHENS, Sept. 27—E. D. Alexander, veteran Georgia agricultural extension service agronomist, died today after an illness of several months. He was 63.

Funeral services are to be conducted from the Athens First Methodist Church Monday at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Dow Kirkpatrick officiating. Burial will be in the family burial ground, Chickamauga, Ga., Monday at 5 p.m.

One of the pioneers in the development of Georgia's college of agriculture and its extension program, Alexander occupied a position of leadership in the agricultural revolution that has changed Georgia from a one-crop state to an outstanding area in pasture and livestock production.

A graduate of the college of agriculture, he taught at the university from 1919 to 1925 and since that time has been extension agronomist.

He was the only Georgian to receive the U.S. Department of Agriculture distinguished service award this year.

Largely through Mr. Alexander's direction the state 100 bushel corn club was organized in Georgia. Since the demonstration program began the state's average corn yield per acre doubled.

Similar programs were originated by Alexander to boost acreage and yields of other crops.

In recognition of his accomplishments, the Georgia Plant Food Educational Society presented him with a distinguished service award for work in agronomy.

Mr. Alexander was born in Walker county in 1890 and reared on a farm. He attended Berry Schools at Rome.

A leader in many organizations, Alexander was a member of the board of stewards, Athens First Methodist Church, member American Society of Agronomy, Alpha Zeta, Epsilon Sigma Phi, and the Extension Garden Club.

SURVIVORS

In 1920 he married Miss Leland Rogers of Walker County. In addition to Mrs. Alexander, survivors include: a sister, Mrs. R.R. Barfield, Birmingham, Ala.; stepmother, Mrs. W.L. Alexander, Atlanta; three half sisters, Mrs. W.O. Mishoff, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Wayne Watson, Atlanta, and Miss Raymonde Alexander, Atlanta; four half brothers, W. Bryan Alexander and W. Dorsey Alexander, Atlanta; A.W. Alexander, St. Petersburg, Fla., and Gordon L. Alexander, Augusta.

In commenting on Mr. Alexander's death, Dean and Director C.C. Murray of the College of Agriculture stated, "Few men in Georgia's history have rendered greater service to the state's agricultural development. His outstanding leadership in the field of agronomy has been one of the important factors in bringing about the great progress made in the South with pastures and livestock.

Extension service director Walter S. Brown said, "Mr. Alexander's death brings the loss of one of the nation's outstanding agronomists and agricultural leaders. His work has won nationwide recognition.
